Dealer left badly hurt in canister explosion

A SCRAP metal dealer was in a serious condition in hospital following a fire extinguisher exploded and parts of it hit his chest.

The drama unfolded at European Metal Recycling Ltd on Bentley Road South, Darlaston on Monday.

The man, who turned up at the yard to sell scrap metal, used an axe to remove a brass collar from the neck of the cylinder when it shot off and hit him.

Police, fire crews and an ambulance were sent to the scene at around 4pm.

Paramedics had to carry out CPR on the man who suffered a cardiac arrest.

He was taken to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham, where he was said to be in serious condition at the time of going to press.

Willenhall watch commander Andy Morgan said: "We were called out at 4.11pm.

"A carbon dioxide extinguisher had exploded.

"The man had attempted to take a brass fitting off the top with an axe.

"He was a scrap metal dealer dropping off some scrap metal.

"The top of the extinguisher hit his chest. He should have discharged the device first."

An ambulance service spokesman confirmed that the man was 'in a very bad way.'

IVF patients given boost

A FERTILITY clinic in Aldridge has introduced a service to improve the chances of IVF patients having babies.

Midland Fertility Services has introduced the service, which captures thousands of pictures of patients' embryos even before any pregnancy occurs. The clinic has invested in two EmbryoScope incubators with built-in cameras, which allow all the details of embryo development to be seen as a time-lapse movie.

This enables the embryologist to identify embryos with abnormal development.

FREEMAN HONOUR FOR NODDY AGREED

Invite - Noddy Holder

SLADE star Noddy Holder is set to become an honorary freeman of Walsall - with a council chief hailing him as 'Walsall through and through'.

The music legend will be invited to become an honorary freeman of Walsall to celebrate his 'extraordinary contribution' to the town.

The council this week voted unanimously to approach the star - and it is now hoped he will accept. Apart from Three Men In A Boat author Jerome K. Jerome, the honour has been bestowed exclusively on politicians or military regiments since 1975.

The invitation is being made on the 40th anniversary of the release of Merry Xmas Everybody which went to No 1 and stayed in the charts until February 1974.

Walsall Council leader Mike Bird backed the plans and said: "If you cut him in half it would say Walsall through and through."

Councillor Pete Smith, who has led the campaign, said the frontman should be celebrated both for his achievements with the band and his charity ties with the town.

And he called on the council to start preparing for an event to bestow the honour on Noddy. He said: "I am grateful for the support of many people across Walsall, the Black Country and beyond who backed the call to offer this honour to Noddy Holder."

"I now hope that Noddy accepts this offer and I hope that when the time comes, Noddy will come back to Walsall to receive his honour in full view and in the presence of as many Walsall people and Slade supporters as possible. Let's make it a big event."

Privilege

But some concerns were raised about the £17,000 cost of conferring the honour on the singer. It comes at a time when Walsall Council is looking to save £19 million from its budget. If he accepts, the musician will become only the 21st person to receive the privilege in 109 years.

Councillor Smith argued that the 67-year-old singer had also helped to boost the borough's tourism income through pilgrimages by Slade fans to Holder's former home on the Beechdale estate.

The star was born in Newhall Street in Caldmore and made his first stage appearance at Walsall Labour Club when he sang the Frankie Laine hit I Believe. He attended TP Riley School in Bloxwich and returns periodically to give talks to college students.

But Councillor Ann Young called the timing of the invitation 'inappropriate' when the elderly were struggling to pay heating bills and many tenants faced hikes in rent because of the Government's bedroom tax.

Colin sees soaring Saddlers

Saddlers legend Colin Harrison with the team's mascot Swifty at the game on Monday

WALSALL recorded a superb win over Peterborough United on Monday night, watched by two of their all-time greats.

Colin Harrison, who until last year held the club's all-time appearance record, was presented to the crowd during half-time of the game which was broadcast live on Sky Sports.

Harrison still holds the record for the number of league appearances for the club, though his all-time appearance record was surpassed last year by Jimmy Walker, who ironically was in the opposition dugout on Monday night as he is now Peterborough's goalkeeping coach.

Police in knife vow as teens stabbed

POLICE say they are treating knife crime as a priority after three schoolchildren, including a 14-year-old girl in Walsall have been stabbed in separate knife attacks.

The girl was stabbed in the back in Bloxwich, while two boys were attacked in a Smethwick park during a fight.

Officers said eradicating such attacks was a priority and they would take action against anyone carrying a blade. Staff at Bloxwich Leisure Centre raised the alarm when the injured 14-year-old staggered into reception on Friday night.

She has had surgery for her injuries. Police officers cordoned off the centre's car park and tracked the suspect behind the nearby Railway pub 50 minutes later.

A 16-year-old boy, from Leamore in Walsall, was arrested on suspicion of wounding the girl with the intention of causing grievous bodily harm. He has been bailed pending further inquiries.

Meanwhile, two boys aged 14 and 15 have been stabbed in Victoria Park, in Smethwick. They were with friends when they were approached by another group of 10 youths.

One boy suffered a stab wound to his stomach and the other received a deep cut across his hand. Both were taken to hospital for treatment. The attack took place at around 4.30pm on November 3.

Student gets top accolade

A FORMER Walsall College student has picked up a top regional award.

Jessica Hedges who studied her level three certificate in human resource management at the college until July this year, has been named the Black Country Student of the Year 2013 for the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development.

The 21-year-old was presented with her award at the Wolverhampton University Science Park after being nominated by lecturer Kevin Willmore.

Knife crime issue highlighted

POLICE have taken the fight against knife crime to young people at a youth centre in Walsall. An event was held at Walstead Road West by police to increase awareness of the dangers of carrying knives. The evening began with a discussion around the dangers of knife crime and involved youth worker and reformed gang member Des Hamilton.

There was also the opportunity to explore the issues surrounding knife crime using music and drama. At the end of the evening an action plan was produced for the area aimed at reducing the risk of knife crime.

Pc Alan Poole said: "Events like these are really important."

"It enables the police to listen to the concerns of young people and to find out what drives them to carry knives. The evening was a great success."

The hard-hitting Guns & Knives Take Lives project run by the West Midlands Police's firearms unit was delivered by Pc Rob Pedley to more than 800 pupils at St Thomas Moore School in Willenhall over recent weeks. The presentation featured a moving talk from Marcia Shakespeare, the mother of innocent victim Letisha Shakespeare who was shot dead in 2003 by a gang member.

Former Hatherton Arms poised to become homes

AN EMPTY pub which sits on a main gateway into Walsall town centre is poised to be converted into homes – the latest in a series of boozers to be lost for redevelopment.

The Hatherton Arms has been earmarked for conversion and an extension to create apartments and flats. Large billboards will also be removed during the regeneration of the site at the corner of Butts Road and Lichfield Street. Members of Walsall Council's planning committee are being recommended to grant permission for the project.

Fraudster borrowed money to pay dealer

A FRAUDSTER conned a short-term loans company out of more than £3,500 after borrowing money from a 'drug dealer', a court heard. Student and father-of-one Dido Engo, aged 23, set up false accounts at different Money Shop locations using false documents such as pay slips.

He did this five times over a period of 10 months between October 2012 and July 2013. Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. Prosecutor Mr Kevin Jones said that although Engo, from Penkridge Street, Walsall, paid some of the loans back, there is still £3,505.11 outstanding.

Defending barrister Mr Ranjit Sandhu said Engo had been introduced to a third party, described in court as a drug dealer, after he began to get into debt, racking up £6,000 in total.

He said: "He was behind on payments for gas, electricity, rent and other rates, and he needed money."

Mr Sandhu said Engo took full responsibility for the offences. He added: "The defendant will accept what he did was very stupid." Judge Wait sentenced Engo to 200 hours of unpaid work after he pleaded guilty to five offences of fraud at an earlier hearing.

NHS worker recognised

A LEADING officer at a West Midlands NHS trust has been recognised for her commitment to her post during an awards ceremony.

Debbie Cooper, who is the Dudley and Walsall Mental Health Partnership NHS Trust's vulnerable adults and children lead, was a runner-up at the NHS West Midlands Leadership Recognition Awards. She had been shortlisted for NHS Partnership/System leader of the year at the awards.

Judges honoured her for demonstrating a commitment to working to help deliver improvements in health and wellbeing.

Project backed

A NEW project to support young people leaving care is being backed. Walsall Council is supporting The New Belongings pilot initiative for care leavers, organised through the Care Leavers' Foundation.

Homes evacuated again for controlled explosion

RESIDENTS had to be evacuated from their homes for a second time in 24 hours after a controlled explosion at a house in Bloxwich.

It comes after a 47-year-old man was charged with two counts of possessing ammunition, including armour-piercing bullets and 'expanding' ammunition.

Paul Morris appeared at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court and was remanded in custody. Homes were evacuated and roads closed after military items were discovered at his house in Station Street on Friday night.

Residents were told they could return overnight but warned they would have to leave again on Saturday for a controlled explosion on a detonator.

Mike Chomyk, who lives in Station Street, said: "I had to be escorted back to my house on Friday night at around 9.45pm."

"It was quite scary because I didn't know what was going on. All I could see were lots of police officers and bomb disposal experts. I thought I might be evacuated the next morning but thankfully I wasn't."

Temporary
 "You don't expect this kind of thing to happen so close to home and especially not right next door to a police station."

A temporary evacuation centre was set up at Bloxwich Leisure Centre in case families needed somewhere to go but no-one took up the offer.

Brigg Ford, spokesman for West Midlands Police, said: "Twelve people were evacuated from their homes as a precaution while bomb disposal teams investigated. They were again moved out on Saturday while a low level detonation was carried out. There was no danger of a military detonator going off unless somebody set it off. This was a precautionary measure."

Four letters of objection have also been received. The new plans face planning committee scrutiny today (Thursday).

Permanent poppies at park

Admiring the metal poppies on the railings are front, Councillor Paul Bott, with back, Friends of Kings Hill Park group members Jim Wheeler, Irene Senark, and Councillor Chris Bott. The scheme was funded by a £600 park improvement grant

A PERMANENT tribute to fallen soldiers has been unveiled in Darlaston.

The metal poppies have been installed on fencing at Kings Hill Park by councillors and members of Moxley and Dangerfield Action Group. Councillor Paul Bott is behind the scheme, which has been funded by a £600 park improvement grant.

He said: "The poppies have been put on railings as a way of remembering our fallen soldiers. These men paid the ultimate sacrifice and gave their life for the people of Darlaston, so it is only fair that we remember them this way and never forget what they did. I think it is a very fitting tribute and I am proud to be a part of it. I have spent six months working on the project along with Councillor Chris Bott and members of Moxley and Dangerfield Action Group and Friends of Darlaston South Park. We are all very pleased with the outcome and I am sure that local residents will be also."

Mr Bott has also been working to save stained glass windows at an empty nearby church and said he is pleased that they will now be installed in special frames for a display. He said: "The three windows will go in specialist frames with LED lighting and they will commemorate the 28 soldiers who died for their town and country."

Centre in openings

NEW stores have signed up for Walsall's Saddlers Shopping Centre, creating new jobs ahead of the festive season.

Bag Factory and Street UK follow in the footsteps of Calendar Club, Ace Clothing and Pound Party. Centre owners Topland has now completed 25 deals since purchasing the Saddlers earlier this year.

The company has also refurbished the toilets and car park foyer.

It comes after the car park had a major overhaul last year and the toilet refurbishment. Steve Pope, asset director, said: "The whole area has been lightened and brightened just in time for Christmas."

Pupils get letters back

LETTERS written by serving soldiers have been sent to pupils at a secondary school. A group of Year 11 boys from Shire Oak Academy in Walsall Wood wrote to troops in Afghanistan.

It was after they had read and studied the First World War novel Private Peaceful by author Michael Morpurgo. The boys wrote about what they had learned about war from the book and asked the soldiers about their experiences of war.

Shire Oak's press officer, Ashley Straw, said the boys were "thrilled to get a reply: 'Each boy received their own personalised letter from a serving soldier in Kabul.'"

Cycling views call by bosses

PEOPLE are being asked for their views on plans which outline the future of cycling across the region.

DIY lessons

TENANTS from a housing organisation in Walsall have been taught basic decorating skills after an introductory session. The eight Caldmore Accord residents were given an introduction to the world of DIY at Walsall College's Green Lane Campus. Students also helped out at a basic painting workshop.

Industrial site takeover plans from college

A COLLEGE is to take over and transform a vacant industrial site for educational use under expansion plans, it has emerged.

Walsall College is to use the building in Portland Street to increase facilities for students, close to the main Wisemore campus. It comes after it was recently revealed an £11 million sports and business hub is also planned within the next two years in Littleton Street.

The latest application for the conversion of accommodation in Portland Street to create workshops and for other educational use has been approved by Walsall Council. Firm plans for the best use of the site can now be established by college bosses.

Deb Rajania, director of operations and resources, said: "The site at Portland Street has been acquired by Walsall College for educational purposes and it will help us make best use of our main Wisemore campus facilities."

The current site has warehouse, office and storage areas.

The application put forward by the college states the site would 'benefit from the improvements that will result from the new use'.

"The site is in an area of older industrial properties half a mile or so to the north of Walsall town centre. It is an area suited to the educational use proposed, particularly with the main college campus nearby," it says.

It comes as the college, which opened its doors in 2009 as part of a land swap which saw Tesco open on the old campus site, is looking to expand.

The state-of-the-art sports and business hub has been earmarked next to the main £64m Wisemore site, in Littleton Street.

Work on the centre, on the site of the old Lime House which was once used as a dentists surgery and council offices, is set to start next summer. It is aimed to be completed by September 2015 and the project will create around 250 jobs.

The college's governing body has approved plans for the hub which will include a business incubation centre to provide support and mentoring for entrepreneurs.

The sports element of the campus will feature a hall with badminton courts, dance and fitness studios along with a training and injury clinic and spa facilities. Walsall Council has agreed for the college to have the land for the ambitious project.

Beds crisis fears for fewer patients getting right care

A HEALTH campaigner has raised fears that a shortage of beds to cope with predicted demand over winter could lead to fewer people being admitted to hospital when they need urgent care.

Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust has 521 beds available, including 28 extra surgical beds and 56 additional medical beds that have been in use since last winter due to continuing pressures this year.

by Adam Burling

There is capacity to provide just eight additional beds within the trust for the entire winter period, although six beds in the cardiac unit could be used in extreme circumstances.

The report outlining the trust's plans to cope with winter pressures says to manage peaks in demand over the winter period it is thought there will need to be a further mixed provision of 60 to 90 beds, places, care packages or care closer to home.

Hospital chiefs insist people will still be treated and that care will not be rationed. But Councillor Pete Smith, who is a member of the Walsall Health and Well Being Board, said: "There are many worrying consequences of the forthcoming shortage of beds."

"It will mean that over the winter period there will be tremendous pressure not to admit to hospital, pressure to discharge as early as possible, maybe too early and the blocking of elective operations."

He said the issue should be examined by Walsall Council's health scrutiny panel to see if anything can be done. Jayne Tunstall, chief operating officer, said the trust had been concentrating on care closer to home and the rapid response team would be a pivotal service in the winter plan.

She said the team takes direct referrals from West

Hay! it's tin man Worzel at care home

Care home cleaner Pauline Pegg and Chef Matt Leek dress as Aunt Sally and Worzel Gummidge to collect tins of food

RESIDENTS at a care home enjoyed a day of nostalgic fun when they were paid a visit by 1980s children's TV character Worzel Gummidge.

The scarecrow, alias chef Matt Leek, was brought to life at Lakeview Care Home in Great Wyrley, along with his sweetheart Aunt Sally, aka cleaner Pauline Pegg, to celebrate the late autumn harvest.

The pair who work at the home in Stafford Road chatted to the residents about their past experiences and helped to promote the home's latest collection of tin food in aid of charity. Worzel Gummidge, made famous by former Doctor Who actor Jon Pertwee, was a walking, talking, scarecrow. He had different heads that allowed him to carry out various acts, such as singing, dancing and thinking.

The home is now inviting relatives and staff to donate tins towards a food bank project in the area. A collection box is kept in the reception area for donations.

Lakeview's activity co-ordinator Chris Carr said: "We thought it would be a great way of celebrating the late harvest and helping to promote our community food collection scheme."

"We decided to set up the collection as a way of supporting our local community after hearing stories about more and more people having to rely on the generosity of local food banks."

IF A Conservative MP had dared utter the remarks made by David Blunkett about Roma gypsies, he would have vanished under howls of disapproval and dark mutterings about Enoch Powell and "Rivers of Blood." But Blunkett is, as they say, sound. Blind from birth, he's an Old Labour son of toil, popular on both sides of the House. Blunkett warns that cultural tensions between Roma and local people could "implode" into a re-run of the 2001 race riots in northern towns. The former home secretary may be right. Britain has a brilliant record of assimilating different cultures but it's a process that works best when people arrive gradually. In 2011 the Government announced there were "relatively few" Roma citizens in the UK. Two weeks ago it was revealed that 200,000 have settled. How the hell did that happen?

NEITHER the Royal Commission nor the Press's own regulator will do anything about one of the most offensive forms of journalism. You know the sort of thing. The Duchess of Cambridge appears in public with a hair or two out of place. The poison-penned bitches of Fleet Street pile in like vultures on a cadaver, sneering at "frayed at the edges" Kate. The great unfairness is that Kate, and celebrities like her, are snapped a thousand times a day and are expected to look perfect in every shot. Female columnists, on the other hand, hide behind a single byline photograph, usually taken with a soft-focus lens some years ago under studio conditions after a full facial and hairdo. I recall meeting one of Fleet Street's sharper-penned ladies, face to face. I have seen better-preserved objects dragged out of pyramids. Don't let them get you down, Kate.

WHILE all attention is focused on gas and electricity bills, the charity Money Advice Trust reports a shocking rise in the number of families with serious mobile-phone debts, caused largely by expensive contracts for smartphones. It reports that an average family of four can easily face bills of £140 a month – more than their total energy bills. That's what happens when a novelty comes to be regarded as an essential.

WHILE the HS2 saga rumbles noisily on it is reported that, thanks to new materials and technology, Henry Ford's elusive dream of a flying car could become reality in the next decade. This week comes news that driverless cars are to be used to ferry people around Milton Keynes on designated pathways. In California, plans have been unveiled for a 'Hyperloop' transportation system capable of carrying passenger pods through pressurised tubes at 800mph. Look forward 15 years to 2028 and we could see safe, high-speed convoys of driverless lorries and cabs on our motorways, 1,000mph tube trains in the States, and executives whizzing into city centres in their airborne limousines. That is about the time that HS2, the clanking, howling, horrendously expensive Victorian solution to England's transport problems, is supposed to start running. HS2 is unwanted now. It will be obsolete then.

Pupils' dinner choices may be chopped

WHEN it comes to their lunches, primary school pupils in Walsall can take their pick from an array of tempting dishes including roast dinners, chicken wraps or lasagne.

But soon their dining choices may be cut back to help cut costs. The standard price paid by families is £1.90 per meal but council chiefs are looking at reducing this down to £1.

They want to encourage more parents to take up the meals but admit the choice of food on offer would have to be cut.

A pilot scheme is set to be launched in the coming months to gauge the level of support.

The most recent figures collected show 86 per cent of pupils eligible for free school meals were taking up the offer. And about 25 per cent of children have a paid-for meal every day.

A report to an upcoming council scrutiny panel meeting reveals that a completely free meals service would cost £12 million a year, which the authority cannot afford when it is facing making £19 million of cuts.

Making meals £1 would cost £8 million a year, so the shortfall would have to be made up by cutting the range of food. The report adds: "With the challenges of the council's medium term financial plan already being a major concern, such additional costs would be impossible to meet unless large additional savings were made elsewhere in the council.

"During National School Meals Week earlier this month some schools agreed to serve meals to their children for £1 a meal as an added incentive. It is worthwhile to note that the Deputy Prime Minister announced that from September 2014 all children in Key Stage 1 (reception years one and two) will be offered a free lunchtime meal."

Wife of attacked fan says jail is 'good result'

THE WIFE of a football fan whose jaw was broken by Walsall FC supporters said a two-year jail sentence handed to the thug who kicked him in the head was a 'good result for justice'.

Up to 10 men attacked 56-year-old Portsmouth fan Andrew Collins as his horrified wife Jo looked on at Walsall railway station.

The victim, who was set upon after trying to retrieve his wife's hat from the thugs, required surgery to fit metal plates to reset his jaw as a result of his injuries.

Violence erupted following Walsall's 2-0 victory at the Banks's Stadium on January 4. Peter Harvey, aged 35, of Hollands Road, Blakenall, was given two years in prison for grievous bodily harm. He also received 12 months for one count of affray, to run concurrently. He had admitted both charges.

Co-defendants Scott Forrester, aged 25, of Cartbridge Crescent, Coalpool also Walsall, and Christopher Genders, aged 21, of Cemetery Road, Willenhall, each admitted an offence of affray. Both received 12 month jail terms, suspended for two years.

Mrs Collins said this week: "We are very pleased with the outcome. We are still looking forward to a return visit."

The assault on the retired chartered surveyor from

by Simon Stone

Addlestone, in Surrey, happened at about 10.15pm as supporters left the game.

During the court case, Miss Sati Ruck, prosecuting, told the court Mr Collins and his 61-year-old wife, and the defendants had been on a train from Bescot and all alighted at Walsall.

She said that a man grabbed Mrs Collins' hat and ran off. Mr Collins chased and took hold of him and demanded the hat back. Then Harvey grabbed Mr Collins, threw him against a wall, and eight or nine males attacked him. Harvey punched Mr Collins in the face with force and kicked him in the head.

Miss Ruck said a witness, Robert Tomkins, described how Mr Collins was 'being kicked like a football'.

Mr John Evans, defending Harvey, said: "He has shown genuine remorse for what happened to the victim." All three men were banned from attending any football match in the UK, Harvey for six years, and Forrester and Genders for four.

Unsung heroes' night

THE annual awards night to recognise unsung heroes in the Black Country is just one day away. The Walsall Civic Awards take place at the Banks's Stadium tomorrow (Friday). They aim to recognise the tireless work of people within the community and celebrate their contribution to making Walsall a better place.

The Mayor of Walsall Mohammad Nazir said: "The Mayor and I want to take this opportunity to thank all the companies who have so generously sponsored the event."

Sponsors include Apcoa Parking, Amey, Barhale Construction, Walsall College and Walsall Housing Group.

Rock Dog tribute to son, 37

Janet Lee and a copy of Saturday Rock Dog, written in tribute to son Paul, who died

A MOTHER who lost her son to leukaemia has immortalised his memory in print by writing a book and naming a character after him.

Paul Lee-Davis was just 37 when he lost his battle with the disease in November 2011.

Mother Janet Lee, a creative writing tutor from Norton Canes, penned a comic escapade called Saturday Rock Dog as a tribute to the music lover.

The kitchen fitter from Willenhall had never suffered health problems before his diagnosis in 2009.

He was treated in the haematology ward at New Cross Hospital for two years. Mrs Lee, aged 61, said: "Paul would have approved of the book because he was so funny. He had a quick wit and a naughty sense of humour."

The book tells the story of a dog called Cuch who is rescued by a family of rock music lovers – and starts dancing and head-banging along to the likes of Iron Maiden. Mrs Lee based the central character of Lucas on her son and gave another character his name.

Patients The book is available via download from apexpublishing.co.uk or Amazon.

A 'fun fund' set up in Paul's name has raised £20,000 to provide treats for young adult patients on the haematology ward. For details visit www.pld.funfund.org.uk

Petition on future of pool is launched

AN ONLINE petition has been launched to save a council-run swimming pool from closure.

The future of Beeches Pool in Great Barr is hanging in the balance amid local authority cuts.

A group of users from the Save Beeches Pool campaign group hope to get more than 10,000 signatures added to their latest e-petition, which would force Birmingham City Council, which runs the leisure centre, to scrutinise any decision on its future.

The swimming pool in Beeches Road is used by people from the neighbouring areas of Sandwell and Walsall. Last year a campaign was set up to save it after council bosses announced they would be closing a number of pools.

An all-party agreement between councillors in the area agreed the pool would not close. But now Perry Barr Councillor Karen Hamilton has revealed that it may still be shut down.

She is leading the campaign with fellow Councillor Jon Hunt, to keep the pool open and they both aim to present the petition to the council at its next meeting on December 3.

Collapse led to death at 74

A MAN died after suffering a heart attack at his home, an inquest heard.

Christopher Edward Handley, aged 74, was rushed to New Cross Hospital after collapsing at his house in Willenhall on May 31. An inquest at Smethwick Council House heard doctors were unable to determine the cause of death.

A post mortem examination revealed Mr Handley had an enlarged heart and severe atherosclerosis, with doctors citing the likely cause of death as congestive cardiac arrest. Black Country Senior Coroner Robin Balmain concluded he died of natural causes.

Otway on way

PUNK star John Otway has announced a show in the region as part of his latest tour. Otway earned a loyal following in the 1970s and a movie on his life – funded by Otway fans – was released last year. The cult singer will appear at the Robin 2 Club in Bilston on December 5.

Fall led to death of woman, 91

AN ELDERLY woman died following a fall in which she fractured her leg, an inquest heard.

Hilda Collins was found on the floor of her home in Green Lane, Walsall, by son Graham, Smethwick Coroners Court was told.

The 91-year-old widow was admitted to Walsall Manor Hospital where they found a fracture to the left femur bone in her thigh, for which she underwent surgery.

Coroners officer Margaret Collins told the inquest: "They assessed her for an operation and her family were aware of the risks involved because of her cardiac history. They have no concerns over the hospital."

She died on October 28 this year while in hospital. Medical cause of death was given as left ventricle failure, myocardial ischemia with coronary artery atheroma. Coroner Robin Balmain concluded death was due to an accident.

Health stop for shoppers

MORE than 600 shoppers stopped to hear about plans to improve health services at an NHS pop-up shop.

It was set up at the Saddlers Centre in Walsall over two days by the Walsall Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG). The aim was to talk to residents about the CCG's priorities for the year ahead and how it is working with partners, including Walsall Manor Hospital.

Around 320 people had free health "MOTs", in which their blood pressure, height, weight and body mass index were measured. Health professionals also advised shoppers on healthy eating and services such as NHS 111.

Main route will be closed down

A MAIN route between Pellsall and Brownhills will remain closed until next week for road improvement works.

Wolverhampton Road will be shut between Norton Road and Wood Lane so the carriageway can be resurfaced. Work which started last week, will be carried out between 7pm and 6am until November 26 in a bid to minimise disruption.

There is a £700,000 project to improve pothole-ridden routes in Pellsall as part of agreed council plans.

Plans in pipeline for hall's transformation

The dilapidated historic Great Barr Hall

A HISTORIC listed building will be transformed into a hotel and conference centre under new plans finally submitted after years in the pipeline.

Great Barr Hall, which has stood empty on the Walsall and Sandwell border since 1978, is to be brought back to life under the plans.

A planning application has been submitted to turn the landmark site into a hotel, restaurant, conference venue and 58 homes. The main hall will become a hotel, while homes will be built in the surrounding grounds.

New owners BCG Lakes have held weeks of consultations with members of the public and a 30-point masterplan setting out options for the site was compiled. The development would also include a new Gatehouse Lodge on Sutton Drive and Netherhall Park.

Other features would see a maintenance building created to store site equipment, open space retained and nature conservation enhanced, an acoustic barrier and planting of tree belt together with a new path, restoration of terraced lawns to the hall leading to the lake, a new boat house and the demolition and clearance of farm buildings in open land and by the lake.

As it is a major development, an interim planning application has been made and, if approved, the final plans can then be put in. Walsall Council regeneration chief Adrian Andrew said: "This issue has been going on for the best part of 40 years with the hall and surrounding land."

"The new owners will invest a significant amount of money and they have engaged with the local community, so I hope people will approach this with an open mind as this is the most realistic plan for the site for many years."

Questionnaires revealed more than 75 per cent of people rejected the idea of demolishing the hall and replacing it with a modern glass building.

Drunk woman, 38, made hoax bomb call at station

A WOMAN who made a hoax claim about a bomb in a busy town centre bus station while drunk has been handed a jail term.

Marie Booth was drunk at the time she made the false claim after pressing an emergency button at Walsall bus station. Transport bosses who were monitoring CCTV avoided a mass evacuation of the station as they could see Booth was intoxicated.

The 38-year-old, who is serving a three month prison sentence for an unrelated offence, was given a further eight weeks imprisonment by magistrates.

Miss Maggie Meakin, prosecuting, said Booth had been caught on CCTV while she was with a group on October 27. She was in a 'drunk state' and was seen pressing the helpline button to Centro at St Paul's station. When someone answered she said there was a bomb.

Michelle Proffitt, owner of M&J Wedding Studio, has taken on the 2,000 sq ft retail unit after previously running a wedding decorations business from her home in nearby Pellsall.

Michelle took the plunge and branched out into selling bridalwear, wedding suits and prom outfits.

Anchor Parade - owned and managed by commercial property company London & Cambridge Properties (LCP) - has 35 stores and a market hall around a square. It has a wide range of high street shops, including Boots, Home Bargains and Iceland, alongside some independent retailers.

Michelle said: "We already had a successful business that sold items such as wedding decorations and invites, but we wanted to expand into bridalwear so it was important we had a premises that was big enough to store and display the gowns, as well as provide fitting rooms for customers to try them on."

Booth, of Park Road, Netherton, Dudley, had eight weeks added to a three month jail term from Wolverhampton Magistrates Court for an unrelated offence. She appeared via video link.

Memory

Walsall Magistrates Court heard, when interviewed by police Booth said she could not remember. She said she had an alcohol problem.

Miss Meakin said: "She couldn't recall the incident in any way but accepted she was at that location." Booth pleaded guilty to communicating false information relating to a bomb hoax.

Miss Stephanie Brownlee, defending, said Booth was alcohol dependent and had been struggling with the problem for many years. The court heard Booth also had mental health issues.

Booth, of Park Road, Netherton, Dudley, had eight weeks added to a three month jail term from Wolverhampton Magistrates Court for an unrelated offence. She appeared via video link.

Pupils box clever to help less fortunate

From back left, Priya Boparai, aged 13, Fatima Miah, 13, Simranjit Padda, 14, Emma Joyce, 11, Serina Doug, 14, Olivia Griffiths, 11 and Hannah Watts, 14, with their collection for Operation Christmas Child at Queen Mary's School

KIND-HEARTED pupils have helped fill hundreds of shoeboxes with goods for disadvantaged children.

Scores of young people at Queen Mary's High in Walsall have put together a range of items as part of Operation Christmas Child.

Together the pupils, parents and staff have collected the likes of stationary games, scarves, toiletries and hats. In total 331 boxes have been put together to be sent to Africa and Eastern Europe by the Samaritan's Purse International.

The pupils who took part in the appeal at the school in Upper Forster Street were aged between 11 and 18.

Science teacher Steven Hensley, helped to co-ordinate the initiative. He said: "We started the appeal the week before half-term. We have broken our record again this year and I am really pleased."

"We want them to show appreciation for what they have got in life and how lucky they are compared to people worse off."

Operation Christmas Child reached a milestone of delivering over 100 million gift-filled shoeboxes in 23 years in 2012.

IN MY VIEW

WITH
ANDREWS

SO, according to a new study, the best place in Britain to live is in the West Midlands.

Solihull came top in this year's Uswitch Quality of Life Survey. The energy comparison service came to the conclusion after studying 138 different areas for 24 different factors including disposable income, life expectancy, and the speed of the local broadband service.

Come again? Now, I'm probably a little biased, particularly given that I don't own a computer. But it seems very hard to believe that the broadband speed is particularly crucial to the well-being of the human condition. Still, there we have it. Solihull, the best part of the UK in which to live. Particularly if you're an online gaming fan.

MAYBE as a pretty dyed-in-the-wool Black Country 'mon' I should be more incensed, but I really can't get too excited about the ban on local dialect in the classroom at Colley Lane Primary School in Cradley.

One incensed parent said: "Some of my friends have gone on to be doctors and lawyers and I'm an engineer - the accent doesn't affect you as a person."

And of course she's right. Despite what the metropolitan trendies will tell you, there's no such thing as a 'neutral accent'. So-called 'received pronunciation' is nothing more than an effort to enforce southern accents on rest of the country. After all, the whole world revolves around the London commuter belt, doesn't it?

But, still, there is a world of difference between speaking with a Black Country accent and using incorrect grammar and syntax. Use phrases like 'Yo ay gonna do that, am yo?' in a job interview and you might as well turn up with a pumpkin on your head.

Yes, children should be taught about their history and culture. But they should also be taught that, unless they want a career making nails in a sweatshop and being paid in beer tokens only redeemable at the gangmaster's pub, such phraseology should be viewed as a quaint antiquity.

And that there are times when you can spake proper and, times when you can't.

THAT said, the school shot itself in the foot with the letter it sent out to parents. Aside from the pompous tone - 'zero tolerance' and the sort of silly logo you might have expected from the old East German government - there was an apostrophe missing from 'I can't'.

It also referred to 'Formal English' with an incorrect capital 'F' (formal is an adjective, not a proper noun). And there was a needless hyphen following a full stop. If you are going to launch a campaign against poor grammar, would it not have been a good idea to have arranged for an English teacher to read the letter first?

Hitting heights for charity after turning life around

WYN MATTHEWS talks to one Black Country lad who has taken on Kilimanjaro in aid of the charity which helped him

WHEN homeless teenager Aaron Moreton was 'sofa surfing' around the Black Country to avoid sleeping rough on the streets, little did he imagine he would be scaling one of the world's tallest mountains on the other side of the globe just over a year later.

The 19-year-old, from Wednesbury, has just returned from an epic trek up Mount Kilimanjaro, in East Africa, which has raised thousands of pounds for the charity which has helped turn his life around.

Aaron explains: "I ended up homeless after falling out with my family. I spent about six months moving around, sleeping at various friends' homes. I lost my job as an IT apprentice during that time too, which was a kick in the teeth. I wasn't in a good place in my life at all."

Develop

But, in September 2012, Aaron managed to find accommodation at The Meeting House, a homeless young people's service in Wednesbury, run by Trident Reach the People Charity.

The service offers accommodation and support to vulnerable young people, helping them develop the skills and confidence to move on and live independently.

"Trident Reach helped me finally get my life back on track. I started looking for work and college courses but, although I was offered lots of interviews, I never got offered a job," says Aaron.

"Then, through my support worker, I got the chance of a year-long apprenticeship with Trident Reach. I've been working here as an Apprentice Recruitment Administrator for six months now, helping the charity take on new staff.

"It's going well and I'm enjoying it, so I hope they'll keep me on. I'm hoping to move into my own place soon and, in the long-term, I'd like to go to university to study HR so I can progress in my career."

"Trident Reach has really boosted my confidence, making me realise that I can be a success. I've always wanted to better myself but I didn't think that was going to happen. It hasn't been easy but I'm getting there."

As a thank you to the Oldbury-based charity - and to do his bit to help other vulnerable people in our communities - Aaron joined a group of Trident Reach colleagues for a gruelling eight-day trek up Kilimanjaro in Tanzania. They braved extreme temperatures - ranging from 27°C during the day to -20°C at night - and the effects of high altitude to scale the 19,300ft summit of the dormant volcano, the tallest free-standing mountain in the world.

Aaron says: "It was incredibly hard - I don't think anything can fully prepare you for that. The worst part was the altitude - at times, you felt like you could hardly breathe."

"The high point was hitting the summit at last and seeing the most beautiful views. Also, we were above the clouds for much of the trek and it was amazing to see how many stars there were in the night sky. There was great camaraderie amongst us too - everyone getting on in the camp. We had a lot of laughs and that kept us going through the hardest times."

Chuffed

The expedition, along with other fundraising initiatives over the next few months, is on target to raise a total of £75,000. Funds will pay for three minibuses which will offer a lifeline to vulnerable people, including the elderly and women and children who have fled domestic abuse, so they can enjoy trips out to boost their self-esteem and quality of life. Aaron says: "I'm chuffed to bits that I completed the trek. I had never done anything like that in my life before and never thought I would, but it was an amazing achievement and I'm hoping to do another fundraising challenge in 2015."

"Trident Reach gave me the chance to transform my life, so I want to raise as much money as I can for the charity and give something back so they can help more people like me in the community."

Trident Reach the People Charity provides housing, care and support services to vulnerable people with a range of needs across the Midlands region, including homeless people, those with disabilities or mental health problems, the elderly and people fleeing domestic abuse.

THROUGH THE YEARS

1983...

A SHOPPER wandering around a market got a fright when a skydiver landed on top of him. Vin Roden was visiting the Saturday market at Halfpenny Green airfield, at Bobbington, near Stourbridge, when 18-year-old Russell Monkman was forced to deploy his emergency parachute. Mr Roden, aged 30, was taken to Corbett Hospital in Stourbridge with a minor neck injury.

HOME Secretary Leon Brittan gave the go-ahead for the biggest prison-building programme of the century. It included the construction of a second jail, at a cost of £12m at Featherstone.

DAD'S Army star John Le Mesurier died at the age of 71. The actor played the debonair Sgt Arthur Wilson in the hit comedy.

1993...

RED-faced police officers and firemen carried out a fire exit inspection while male strippers Rebel Red and Steve Perry strutted their stuff in front of hundreds of screaming women. More policemen, with dogs, were summoned to Samson's Place nightclub in Oldbury, as more than 1,200 hysterical women tried to get into the 500-capacity venue.

GRAHAM Taylor's tenure as England manager was hanging by a thread after the national side failed to qualify for the 1994 World Cup, despite beating San Marino 7-1. To add to the humiliation, England went behind to the minnows after just eight seconds. The former Aston Villa boss said he would continue until told otherwise.

2003...

THE British Red Cross sparked controversy after telling volunteers not to create Nativity scenes in its shops for fears of offending non-Christians. The charity came under fire for 'stripping the Christianity out of Christmas', and Rev Colin Gibson of St Matthew's Church in Walsall said it was very sad that the faith was being suppressed. The Red Cross said it was to preserve the organisation's impartiality.

A BUS station was to get its own police station to protect passengers from thieves and drug dealers. Supt Gareth Cann said he hoped Wolverhampton bus station would get its own police base within four weeks after it was reported that many people avoided it at night.

AROUND 1,200 pupils were evacuated as a fire ripped through Dartmouth High School in Great Barr.

Misdirected schemes on public health

TRANSFERRING public health from the NHS to Walsall Council was always going to be a challenge, not only for the respective organisations but for the staff and local people who use the services.

Six months into Walsall Council's control of public health a great deal has been achieved.

The Health and Wellbeing Board has agreed a purposeful action plan and become data rich with information about health inequalities across Walsall.

However, several misfires, and missed opportunities have raised doubts about the delivery and priorities being implemented.

How do we tackle life expectancy for 40 year old males, with Zumba dancing? How does chiropody by GPs tackle teenage pregnancy levels?

Where are our priorities at a time of austerity?

Only evidence-based, qualified, measured and clear actions will make a difference. Our NHS and Health and Wellbeing are too important to allow misfires and misdirected schemes. Let's keep standards high and public health effective and focused.

Fireworks morons are breaking law and peace

CAN someone explain to the selfish morons who have firework parties at 11.45pm on a Sunday night that they are breaking the law, disturbing the peace and getting on my nerves.

Quite who these people think they are, and quite where they imagine they have a right to set off air-bombs, rockets and the like at midnight defies all rational explanation.

I'm all in favour of marking Guy Fawkes' night and the celebration of Diwali, or whatever, but I draw the line at having to endure three weeks of incessant fireworks at all times of the day. It just illustrates the warped mentality of some folk. Talk about having more money than sense.

Bin disappointed with advice

ISN'T IT strange how rules can be changed to suit the situation? I refer to Walsall MBC and its recycling programme. Green bins were issued with full instructions for the type of items which must be put into this receptacle. These rules have been followed in my household to the letter.

However, on Friday, November 1, this bin was not emptied. I rang the council early on Friday afternoon to report this omission. The advice I was given made me wonder why we are asked to recycle, and why we bother to sort and wash bottles and tins. I was told to put my recycling items into the ordinary household waste bin until the next collection of the recycling, which is in two weeks' time.

Maintaining HS2 dismay

WE ARE right to cast doubt on the latest Government report deriding a cheaper alternative to HS2. They say the alternative will take 14 years – well how long will HS2 take, since it is due to start in 2017 and runs for the next 10 years?

The final cost of either plan is not known and guesswork is being used. For example the cost of HS2 was increased this year, from £32 to £42 billion, so why was the original estimate so wrong?

Like many other commuters I am keen to see improvement in our rail service, but £42bn an expensive option, in order to save 15 minutes on a journey from London to Birmingham. The 15 minutes saving can easily be lost getting from the station concourse to a taxi.

Management not working

I DID attend one of the 'have your say meetings' to discuss how to cut £100 million from the budget over five years, to be told how hard our councillors are all working.

Then I read of another one of our primary schools failing, again, not for the first time. This used to be called fire-fighting management – wait for the blaze before taking action. Surely management's job is to plan ahead and supervise.

Those children will be affected by the poor education for the rest of their lives. Cutting costs? We pensioners have been doing that for years – what about the £50,000 spent on a new car for the Mayor? I recall that famous quote from a senior Conservative: "Get on your bike."

Bus is no boost for traders

I FIND the letter from Councillor Doug James, 'Bus route is a real boost' to be hypocritical. Well who is it a boost for? Certainly not the traders in Walsall borough, employing a bus route directly to Merry Hill and Dudley markets. The 310 service will only kill off what was a once thriving town.

Perhaps if Walsall councillors used our vast open spaces to build a Merry Hill-type of complex to attract shoppers in our own borough, we would not have to resort to employ bus companies to export our loyal shoppers.

Denise kicks in to help unveil new judo centre

Denise Lewis talks to young athletes as she opens the British Judo Centre of Excellence at the Walsall campus

OLYMPIC gold medalist Denise Lewis unveiled a new £1 million judo Centre of Excellence in Walsall, hailing the development as a 'massive boost' to the sport in this country.

The facility at the University of Wolverhampton's Walsall campus on Gorway Road features a 1,000 sq ft dojo, a state of the art gymnasium and accommodation for 28 athletes.

It was funded by the university, who donated the former sports hall and a lecture theatre and also paid for renovation works.

Denise, who bagged gold in the heptathlon at the 2000 Sydney Olympics, said the new facilities could provide the key to unearthing the region's first Olympic judo champion. "There are so many factors that come into play when it comes to winning a gold medal at the Olympics," she said. "Of course the talent has to be there but you can't get to the top on ability alone."

Denise, who was born in West Bromwich and grew up in Wolverhampton, said her own rise to glory came after a change of routine in the wake of her bronze medal at the Atlanta Olympics in 1996. After Atlanta I knew I had to change things around. I started living and training under the same roof which helped me to have a more professional outlook."

Christmas makes its Mark with switch-on

Walsall's Mark Rhodes, right, is the compere at the lights switch-on with Lauren Wright, Union J and Rylan Clark

THE FESTIVE shopping season kicked off in style when thousands turned out to see X Factor favourites Union J and Rylan Clark at Merry Hill's Christmas lights switch-on.

Screaming crowds gathered to see the shopping centre's official Christmas lights switch-on and watch the singers perform on stage.

The event was hosted by former Pop Idol contestants turned TV and radio presenters Sam Nixon and Darlaston's Mark Rhodes.

Up to 9,000 tickets were sold for the extravaganza which also included performances from up-and-coming band R3 and singer Lauren Wright.

Flurries of artificial snow and a colourful fireworks display finished the big night off with a bang.

Proceeds from the ticket sales were going to Help Harry Help Others, the Brierley Hill centre's chosen charity this year. The charity was started by brave youngster Harry Moseley who battled a brain tumour until his death two years ago.

Racial abuse driver claimed he was undercover officer

A DRIVER claiming to be an undercover police officer flew into a rage, hurling a stream of racist abuse at a man before swerving his car towards him and his wife, a court heard.

Stephen Lawlor was given a suspended jail term after he admitted dangerous driving and racially aggravated harassment.

Magistrates were told Lawlor, of Glebe Street, Walsall, got into an argument with Dheraj Muman as the pair were driving towards PC World in Wednesday. Mr Mark Cooper, prosecuting, said "This incident occurred at 10pm on May 10. The two drivers are both driving towards PC World."

"There seems to be an altercation about the manner in which they were driving."

"The complainant said 'what are you doing following the car?' and the defendant responds: 'I'm an undercover police officer'."

Mr Cooper said Lawlor then launched a torrent of racial abuse and drove his Ford Fiesta towards Mr Muman and his wife at the store car park on Axletree Way, Wednesday.

Mr Muman filmed Lawlor's driving on his phone. His actions were also caught on the store's CCTV.

Lawlor, aged 59, was later charged with dangerous driving and racially aggravated harassment which he pleaded guilty to.

Mr David Nash, defending, said Lawlor accepted what he had done, but claimed he was usually a man who helped others.

Lawlor was given 90 days imprisonment for the dangerous driving and 30 for the racial abuse, suspended for 12 months.

He was also made subject to a curfew between the hours of 11pm and 7am and made to pay £200 in costs, £200 compensation to Mr Muman and a victim surcharge of £80.

An interim driving disqualification made at an earlier hearing was extended to 18 months.

Motorists' misery over diversion signs mix-up

by Craig Hughes

Tony books history date

Tony Highfield with his new book about the history of Darlaston

A BOOK charting the history of Darlaston over the decades is being launched by a historian on Saturday. It contains pictures and stories about the town from the 1800s towards the 1960s. Tony Highfield produces an annual book for Christmas and has spent the last year collating stories and images.

This 92-page publication called Stories and Photographs of Old Darlaston looks at pubs, shops and people from the town over the years. This includes the Wagon and Horses in King Street, the story of butcher John Adey, who had shops in the town and Underwood shoe shop of King Street. There is also information about trains and trams.

Mr Highfield will be at Darlaston Library, King Street, to sign copies. It costs £3 and will also be available at the Victoria Road post office and Jean's Cosmetics, King Street.

The 72-year-old said he was aware of books going to Canada and New Zealand and was now a tradition to release one at this time of the year.

A DIVERSION mix-up saw motorists forced down a country lane when work started on a £3 million replacement rail bridge in Walsall.

Drivers were hit with rush-hour delays and congestion after being sent down the wrong route as part of the project in Broad Lane, Bloxwich.

They were being redirected along Long Lane, but there were complaints from residents and councillors as mass traffic problems were caused at the start of last week.

It emerged there had been a 'communication breakdown' over the diversion route which has now been corrected to minimise the impact on drivers and families.

It had earlier been agreed between Network Rail and Walsall Council that vehicles should use Warstones Road, Essington Road, Lichfield Road and Sneyd Lane. This has now been put in place.

Problems

Essington councillor David Clift said there had been problems with double parking and increased journey times along Long Lane. "The amount of traffic that was down there was unbelievable," he said. "The lane just can't cope with that amount of traffic."

Regeneration and transport chief councillor Adrian Andrew said: "Unfortunately the traffic management company carrying out work for Network Rail originally put the wrong diversion route in place for the closure of Broad Lane."

"Officers at Walsall Council were in contact with the company and the correct and originally planned diversion route is now being put in place."

"The route for through traffic that uses A462 Warstones Road, A462 Essington Road, A4124 Lichfield Road and A4142 Sneyd Lane is suitable for the types of vehicle and volume of traffic that B4210 Broad Lane carries."

TWO men have been jailed after a man was left with a broken jaw following an alcohol fuelled fight at Walsall bus station.

Leigh Hallett, aged 33, and Carl Roberts, 29, chased a group of men through the town centre before delivering numerous blows as their victims lay on the ground.

by Simon Stone

CCTV footage played to Wolverhampton Crown Court showed Hallett and Roberts at first walking away from three hooded men provoking them.

Shortly after, the pictures showed Hallett and Roberts chasing the group before catching up with them.

Mr Bernard Linneman, prosecuting, said: "They set off towards the bus station and Mr Hallett attacked Amad Ali, the person who had his jaw broken. He was knocked to the ground by Mr Hallett and Mr Roberts has stamped or kicked Mr Ali while he was on the ground. Mr Hallett punched him (Mr Ali) a number of times. Mr Amir Khan was punched by Mr Roberts."

Two members of the public were then seen to intervene and the defendants were arrested. Police described the men as being drunk. The court was told Hallett, a father of two, had previous convictions for common assault. His barrister Mr Harry Bowyer, said: "He's a man who is self-employed as a floorer. He has two children who he keeps in contact with." Mr Michael Garnett, for Roberts, said: "He had already described that he completely lost himself and to use his words he 'saw red'."

Hallett, of Cherrywood Road, Streetly, admitted wounding and assault occasioning actual bodily harm. He was jailed for 16 months. Roberts, of Crowberry Close, Brownhills, admitted wounding, assault occasioning actual bodily harm and possession of a class A substance. He was jailed for 34 months.

Mervin's a key player

A CONCERT has taken place to mark the 110th anniversary of an historic town hall organ. Septuagenarian Mervin Jones, pictured, played the iconic instrument and was joined by Cannock Chase Orpheus Male Choir at the performance in Darlaston Town Hall last Thursday. The Slater family gave the town hall's organ as a gift to the people of Darlaston in 1903. It was unplayable when Mr Jones discovered it behind a curtain in 1996 but has since been refurbished. A new group has launched a campaign to see more activities staged at the venue.

Parts demand boosts firm

ENGINEERING group Castings has seen a hike in its sales and profits after 'exceptional' demand for its parts from commercial vehicle manufacturers.

In the six months to the end of September sales were up to £65.9 million compared to £60.4m at the same point a year ago. Pre-tax profits were up to £9.57m from £9.11m.

The firm revealed it recruited 200 workers across the two Brownhills sites in its last six months.

The CNC Speedwell machining operation is based across the Lichfield Road from the main Castings foundry. The two sites employ a total of nearly 600 people.

Chairman Brian Cooke said: "The company experienced exceptional levels of demand mainly from our commercial vehicle customers, with short-term delivery requirements."

Sign spells trouble

Councillor Kath Phillips with the misspelt sign on Long Road

HALLOWEEN may have been and gone - but a spelling blunder is giving commuters along a busy road a spooky feeling. Rail bosses have come under fire after signs diverting drivers away from major works at a railway bridge got the name of the town wrong.

Contractors for Network Rail placed a sign in Bloxwich, spelling the name of the town as 'Bloxwich'.

The sign in Long Lane has prompted anger from locals but Network Rail has vowed to correct the signage.

Bloxwich West councillor Fred Westley said the signage was an 'embarrassment'. He said: "This sort of thing is not acceptable and will rightfully anger the local people."

Bloxwich East councillor Kath Phillips added: "Bloxwich is an old town and you don't expect people to get its spelling wrong. There have been a lot grumbling about it in the town and a lot of people are not happy at all."

Network Rail spokesman Ben Herbert apologised for the error. He said: "We are sorry if this has caused offence to the people of Bloxwich and will be taking immediate steps to rectify the signage and correct the spelling."

The diversion is in place as part of work on a £3 million replacement rail bridge in Broad Lane.

Rebuild for leisure sites may start by next spring

FINAL plans for a £15 million pound rebuild of outdated leisure centres are expected to go before council chiefs early next year paving the way for work to begin by spring.

by Craig Hughes

The centres at Bloxwich and Oak Park have been lined up for replacement as they are outdated and need to be modernised.

Tenders for the scheme have gone out with a deadline of December 6 and it is now expected the proposals will go before members of the decision-making cabinet in February. This would pave the way for work to hopefully get under way in spring of next year.

The project is valued at £9m for Oak Park and £6m for Bloxwich.

In Bloxwich, the council has been in talks with the Charity Commission over the plans which could see the new centre partly built on its land near to the current High Street site.

The authority made a U-turn on plans to bulldoze the Pinfold Centre in Field Close to create a car park for a new look centre. It came after objections and fears over the loss of 40 jobs.

Bloxwich will get a six-lane 25-metre pool under the plans and councillor Pete Smith said it will be a big boost for people in the area. It will provide a modern centre for people in the surrounding Bloxwich and Blakenall wards.

"I am very pleased that we are going to get one of the two multi-million pound leisure centre projects," he said. "Considering we are in a climate of doom and gloom, it is really good news."

"If you look at all the health indicators these days there is a lot of talk about prevention rather than cure. Exercise and diet and leisure centres play a part in that."

The launch of construction will be subject to the council setting capital and revenue budgets. Plans for the new Oak Park centre in Lichfield Road, Walsall Wood, include an eight-lane swimming pool.

Have-a-go hero receives award for tackling thief

by Craig Hughes

WHEN have-a-go hero Anthony Simpson wrestled a robber to the ground the brazen thief offered him £1,500 to let him go.

Some people may have considered pocketing the cash, but Mr Simpson was not tempted for a moment.

He had chased Gurnam Dulai and pinned him down after he was seen snatching a worshipper's handbag at a Sikh temple in Walsall.

Mr Simpson ignored his pleas to split the £3,000 contents of the bag and was determined to call the police.

Dulai eventually struggled free – but not before Mr Simpson had prised the cash from his grasp.

Justice

The security consultant, of Handsworth Wood, Birmingham, has been honoured for his actions by police.

Police say he 'helped ensure justice was done'.

Detectives found blood droplets at the scene which, after forensic analysis, returned a DNA 'hit' pointing to Dulai, of no fixed address.

Police caught up with him the following month when his car was stopped by officers in Forge Lane, West Bromwich. He was later jailed for 30 months at Wolverhampton Crown Court, in Pipers Row.

Police chiefs today said Mr Simpson showed 'civic duty and bravery' outside Walsall High Street's Guru Nanak Gurdwara on a clearly distressed victim. The September 21 last year.

He has been handed a Good Citizen Award by Chief Constable Chris Sims and Deputy Police & Crime Commissioner Yvonne Mosquito at a ceremony this week.

Sandwell Police Chief Superintendent Mark Robinson said: "Mr Simpson's sense of civic duty and bravery is commendable; he could easily have turned a blind eye but felt moved to chase the thief and help out

"The fact that someone was robbed within the grounds of the temple shocked and appalled the local community, but Mr Simpson's actions helped us ensure justice was done."

"We were able to trace Dulai and he was jailed for 30 months."

Remanded killer had phones in cell search

KILLER Aiden Elmore was caught with mobile phones in prison while on remand for murdering a pensioner after starting a blaze outside his flat, it has been revealed.

Prison officers at the young offenders' institution Brinsford, near Featherstone, discovered two mobile phones and a charger in a routine search of his cell on August 30.

Elmore was awaiting his trial at the time for the murder of Victor Moore who died while trying to escape the fire, started by Elmore, outside the 68-year-old's flat in Southey Close, Short Heath.

Elmore had set up a barricade of wheeled bins to prevent residents leaving. He was sentenced to life, with a minimum of 21 years fixed to be served. He appeared via video link at Cannock Magistrates Court where he admitted having the phones and charger.

He had wanted the phones to contact his relatives 'for personal reasons', said Mr Giles Rowden, prosecuting. The court was told his solicitor refused to attend the hearing.

Elmore was given a total of 14 weeks in prison, to run concurrently with his life sentence. The magistrates also ordered the forfeit and destruction of the phones.

The case was held up for 90 minutes after Elmore refused to leave his cell.

Printers aim to put their stamp on new premises

A STAMP printing firm with its roots in Walsall's leather industry is moving to a new, hi-tech factory on the i54 site, where Jaguar Land Rover's landmark £500 million engine plant is being built.

International Security Printers – better known as ISP – will move from its home in Midland Road, Walsall, to the 70,000 sq ft premises once building work is completed next year. All its 80-strong workforce will be transferred to the site, which ISP plans to expand by a further 30,000 sq ft to meet increased demand.

The company, which printed the Royal Wedding stamps for Prince William and Kate Middleton, can trace its roots back to the Walsall Lithographic Company, founded in 1894 to print catalogues for harness and saddlers businesses.

But, as its plans for the future grow, ISP has taken five acres on the i54, on the border of South Staffordshire and Wolverhampton, which is part of the Black Country Enterprise Zone.

ISP's core business is in printing self-adhesive stamps, with more than 60 per cent of its production destined for export markets, including Europe and Japan. Managing director Paul White said: "The new manufacturing premises on the prestigious i54 site, coupled with an ambitious programme of investment in state-of-the-art printing technologies will provide us with a firm foundation from which to expand our business operations."

On track for electric trains as project gets under way

ELECTRIC train services on the Chase Line have moved a step closer as work started on the project at Bloxwich.

Walsall North MP joined councillors at the ceremony to mark the start of the scheme.

Network Rail is delivering the project to electrify 15 miles of railway between Walsall, Cannock and Rugeley Trent Valley. It will provide a cleaner, greener, modern service for passengers using the route.

Liam Sumpter, Network Rail area director said: "Electrification helps us to boost capacity, reduce carbon emissions and cut the cost of running the railway. Electric trains are also quieter, more reliable and have more seats, which is good news for passengers."

"By enabling a better train service along this important route, this investment in the rail infrastructure will help grow the local economy and provide a better service for passengers."

Walsall North MP David Winnick, together with councillors, Centro and London Midland, officially started the demolition of Broad Lane bridge at Bloxwich North station on Monday. This is the first of three bridges which need to be rebuilt to accommodate the equipment required to run electric trains. Mr Winnick said: "I certainly welcome the electrification of the line, which has been much needed, and which goes through a good part of my constituency. I did say to the Network Rail officials that I hoped everything possible will be done to minimise disruption to local residents while the work is being undertaken. Many of the residential properties are very near indeed to the station and bridge."

Mark Goodall, London Midland's head of Cross City Service, said: "The electrification of the neighbouring line between Lichfield and Birmingham has been a huge success and we look forward to introducing similar benefits to passengers on the Rugeley to Birmingham route."

Network Rail has been working closely with local authorities to agree the details of the closures and inform local residents.

Once all bridge works have been completed, electrification work will get under way in 2015 with the project set for completion in late 2017.

Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley said: "I am absolutely delighted that all this hard work has finally paid off and construction work is now under way."

Rail services will not be affected until spring 2014 when the line will be closed for short periods on Sunday mornings to allow construction work to be completed safely.

London Midland will provide a rail replacement service during these periods.

Delays for drivers as sewer fails

DRIVERS were hit by rush-hour delays in Walsall while emergency repairs were carried out on a collapsed sewer.

Severn Trent Water started urgent repairs in Bescot Road on Saturday, affecting traffic on Monday. Bosses said the work had to be carried out to avoid flooding. The dual carriageway has been closed from the south-bound M6 exit slip road into Bescot Road to the Morrisons store.

One lane of the dual carriageway leading back along Bescot Road towards junction 9 of the M6 has also been closed for the work. Diversions were set up through the Gallagher Retail Park.

People took to twitter to vent their frustrations. Jodie Powell wrote: "The traffic into Walsall this morning is ridiculous. Would have been 10 times quicker walking."

Date set for next fun run

ORGANISERS have set a date for another Midlands fun run following the success of this year's event.

More than 600 people took part in the Great Black Country Run in September. Organisers have announced next year's race will be held on September 21.

People can start entering for the race, which includes a 5k fun run and 10k road race, from January 1 next year. Visit www.greatblackcountryrun.org for details.

Eye of the tiger is on new home and mate

DUDLEY Zoo has taken delivery of its newest resident, rare Sumatran tiger Joao. After travelling hundreds of miles by land and sea, Joao made his grand entrance at the attraction by crane.

The 20-month-old tiger, who had travelled from Krefeld Zoo, Germany, was then carefully carried into the enclosure which is on the upper level of the 40-acre site where he will be introduced to three-year-old female Daseep.

He brings with him hopes of a new generation of big cats as Joao is part of a major international conservation programme for the critically endangered species.

The feline arrival is lowered into his new enclosure

Eight cubs were born at the Castle Hill site between 2000 and 2005. It alone increased the world population of this incredible sub-species by two per cent and went on to boost programmes across the world.

Assistant curator, Richard Brown, said: "We are all delighted and relieved that Joao is here at last. He is a superb tiger and has already started communicating with the female through vocalisation. We are very hopeful he will settle in over the weekend and be out in the external enclosure to meet the public very soon."

Registrar and research co-ordinator, Dr David Beeston, said: "We hope these genetically important animals will soon breed and boost the numbers in the important European breeding population for this highly endangered species."

Tricky
Zoo chief executive, Peter Suddock, said: "The big cat Tecton enclosure is a tricky one to negotiate and we used a crane to manoeuvre the tiger into the building."

"Not only does this make the transfer easier, but it also eliminates the need to anaesthetise Joao and meant we could introduce him to the internal dens immediately. It sounds a difficult move but it's something we've done since the zoo opened in 1937 and although it looks complicated, it's fairly straightforward."

Daseep is ranked as the world's second most important female in the genetic pool for the rare sub-species which now numbers fewer than 140 in the wild.

Staff are hoping to build on their successful breeding record for Sumatran tigers.

Repairs due for pub in £1m project

AN HISTORIC pub which dates back to the 1600s is to undergo repairs as part of a £1 million project to spruce up iconic buildings.

The Grade II listed Bell Inn, in Market Place, Willenhall, is to receive work as part of the Townscape Heritage Initiative.

A consortium of Willenhall residents formed The Bell group and bought the pub at auction in 2010. There are long-term plans for a cafe and community centre.

A funding pot of £1 million has been set aside for property owners or leaseholders of historic buildings within the conservation area and some of this is being used on the town's oldest pub.

Work will focus around ensuring the building is structurally sound and water tight. It will also include roof and window repairs and replacement of the existing shopfront.

Public to be given say on post office

MEMBERS of the public will be given six weeks to have a say on plans for a post office that is set to be closed.

Willenhall post office could close and services moved into a shop, under proposals. It is one of 70 Crown Post Office branches, or those run directly by the Post Office, earmarked to be franchised. Bosses insisted a decision has not yet been made but confirmed a consultation would be held.

A spokeswoman said: "We are committed to keeping Post Office branches on high streets. For 70 of our Crown Post Office branches such as Willenhall we think that the best way to do this is to partner with a retailer."

Highland fling by posties raises £2,000 for school

by Rob Gollledge

THREE postal workers completed an endurance challenge in the Highlands to raise £2,000 for a special needs school.

Royal Mail drivers John Hanley, Mick Hembrow and Michael Power walked nearly 100 miles along the West Highland Way through Scotland over five days, before climbing the heights of Ben Nevis.

The three colleagues raised £2,010 for Jane Lane School in Bentley, near Willenhall, Walsall – the town's biggest special school.

The walk took place in July but a special assembly was held recently where each of the fundraisers were presented with special plaques to mark their achievement.

Headteacher Tony Milovsorov thanked the three men for their efforts.

Relation

He said: "It was great to see and we are very grateful that they decided to raise money for us."

"John is a relation of our PE teacher Simon Murott and together with Nick and Michael they decided we would be their chosen cause."

"It has been brilliant for the pupils as they were able to chart the journey and it actually formed part of their geography lessons where they would track their progress. It was very interactive."

"I will consult with the school council before deciding how to spend the money but that amount of money is welcome and we are very thankful to the three of them and Royal Mail who have supported them."

The school in Churchill Road caters for seven to 19 year-olds and currently has 145 pupils on its books.

Outlet may be moved 650 metres

MOXLEY Post Office could move into a new home 650 metres from its current base under new plans.

The unit is earmarked to move from its current base in Roberts Close to Kendrick News, in Kendrick Road. It would see its opening hours more than doubled.

Post Office Ltd has launched a six-week consultation over the plans which would see the branch's opening hours extend to 103 per week.

Post Office regional network manager, Adrian Wales said: "The modernisation is part of a major investment programme to convert the post office network to new-style branches and this investment, the largest in the history of the post office, makes a commitment to no more branch closure programmes."

The consultation will close on January 6. Email comments@postoffice.co.uk or call 08457 22 33 44.

Store workers are praised by police

SUPERMARKET staff have been praised for helping catch a drug dealer who left his stash in the canteen. Parminder Singh was jailed for four years at Wolverhampton Crown Court for supplying Class A and Class B drugs.

The 34 year-old had been to Morrisons in Middle Piece Way, Willenhall, when he left an Adidas bag containing drugs worth more than £2,000.

Staff at the store found the bag and called police. Detective Constable Jon Baker, from Walsall CID, thanked the fast-acting and helpful staff.

MEMORY LANE

Mr Green seen at his home when he was 80

The young man in his Territorial Army uniform

An image of Mr Green in jungle attire

Veteran who suffered PoW brutality made most of life

HE WAS detained in one of the most infamous Japanese prisoner of war camps for almost five years, and subjected to brutal treatment, forced labour, food shortages and sickness.

But despite leaving the camp close to death, war hero from West Bromwich Theodore Green went on to live a long and happy life, with a large family and long career.

Tributes have now been paid to the veteran, who has died at the age of 90.

Mr Green joined the territorial army at the age of 17, but within weeks he had signed up to the regular army after the outbreak of the Second World War.

He along with his brothers left the family home to do their duty and all caught the train to Hednesford to join up. He became a private in the 14 Section Royal Army Ordnance Corps attached to the South Staffordshire Regiment in munitions, and within months was sent to Singapore in the Far East.

By Naomi Dunning

But after being there only a matter of months the section was soon in trouble and whilst waiting for back-up from the allies, the Japanese invaded.

The help didn't reach them in time and Mr Green was captured outside the Raffles Hotel, Singapore in 1940.

Mr Green was first taken to Changi jail in the eastern part of Singapore, before being transported to the Batu Lintang camp in Kuching, Sarawak in Borneo, a 50-acre site with a maximum of 3,000 prisoners.

His son David Green, aged 66, from Compton said his father spent his 18th birthday at the camp, and only managed to get one note home.

The camp was eventually liberated on September 11 1945, but Mr Green did not leave until September 28, having to be carried out and weighing just four stone.

Endured

Mr Green didn't return home to Wolverhampton until 1946, and for years afterwards would have bad bouts of malaria. His son said: "I am extremely proud of him. To think what he endured, it must have been awful. But to get well and carry on makes me proud. He protected us all from it, which I'm very grateful for."

He added: "He didn't really talk at all about his time at the camp. I'm not sure what he went through but it must have been terrible."

"Reading about the camp now is very emotional."

Mr Green married his wife Joyce in 1947 and the couple, who lived in Tottenhall Wood, Wolverhampton, had 10 children, who had 12 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

After the war he became a painter and decorator and long distance lorry driver. He then spent 21 years as an ambulance driver. He was also a keen artist. He spent his last year at Aldergrove Manor Care Home on Penn Road, and died on October 15 at New Cross Hospital after a long illness.

His son added: "He was a very hard worker, and always looked after his family. He was always good natured and pleasant."

Stamp of success

Emily Woollam, aged 11, celebrates being named a runner-up in the Royal Mail Christmas stamp competition

A TALENTED schoolgirl has been named runner-up in the national Royal Mail children's Christmas stamp contest.

Emily Woollam, a pupil at Queen Mary's Grammar School, Walsall, was second out of more than 250,000 entries for her Nativity scene design.

The 11-year-old's entry shows Mary holding baby Jesus beneath a ray of light beside the three kings. Emily, of Muxloe Close, Bloxwich, has been awarded a sheet of real stamps bearing her design, as well as a framed copy of her entry and £100 worth of high street vouchers.

The youngster, who entered the competition when she was at St Peter's Primary School, said: "I was really proud when I found out and really excited. I really want to be an artist when I'm older so this was a great opportunity."

Her mother, Val, said: "I really can't tell you how proud I am. It really is a fabulous achievement. Art really is Emily's true passion - she loves all type of art."

Safety fears raised over four-road bridge meet

A REVIEW of a busy bridge junction in Willenhall is to be carried out amid concerns over traffic and safety. Fears have been raised about collisions and congestion around Lane Head Bridge.

by Craig Hughes

The canal bridge links four roads and Willenhall Liberal Democrats met council highways officers at the site last week.

There are safety fears for drivers and pedestrians with railings near shops having been damaged as vehicles try to squeeze past traffic.

There have also been concerns raised about poor direction signs approaching the traffic-light controlled junction from High Road, Bentley Lane, Straight Road and Bloxwich Road North.

Better line markings have already been put into place since the meeting.

Willenhall councillor Ian Shires, group leader of the Liberal Democrats, said officers had been asked to look at options for improvements.

The bridge goes over Wyrley and Essington Canal and he said it works on a 'knife edge' to keep traffic moving while allowing time for pedestrians to cross. Councillor Shires said: "This junction is complicated. It is tight, both on space and timings."

"We have asked officers to work up options which can then be put to residents, shopkeepers and motorists as we attempt to keep people safe, however they cross the canal from one part of Short Heath to the other."

"The issue is four roads meeting at a single point. There are a number of motorists who use the route who ignore the rules of the road, who will be in the wrong lane, who jump a red light, it is quite dangerous."

"If people are not positioned properly it creates issues with congestion, we do get accidents with HGVs trying to manoeuvre through a gap which isn't big enough and safety rails can get mangled."

CLUB NEWS

Selection box talk on menu

W'TON WOMEN'S LUNCHEON CLUB

THE monthly Luncheon, held at The Lindens, Tettenhall Road, on October 23 was attended by a total of 88 people including the Mayor and Mayoress of Wolverhampton, speaker Peter Slack and guests, some of whom were gentlemen.

On the menu was chicken caesar salad, pork in a red wine sauce followed by apple crumble, tea or coffee with mints.

After the meal, the chairman Sheila Groom invited the Mayor, Councillor Milkinder-Jaspal to say a few words. He said he and his wife were delighted to be invited to the club and went on to give a brief talk about his background and family.

The chairman thanked the Mayor for his talk before introducing Peter Slack, a dairy and sheep farmer in the Peak District.

His humorous talk was entitled "I'm not lost; I'm just not sure where I am". He spoke about his observations of visitors to his area.

Votes of thanks were given to the club from the guests and to the speaker by Michael Groom.

On November 27 the speaker will be Jennie Storr on "Jennie's Christmas selection box" and the menu will be Florida cocktail, roast turkey and Christmas pudding with brandy sauce.

Wednesday club, rambling group, scrabble group and luncheon club all revealed the extent of their activities until the beginning of 2014.

There was an extra raffle prize, beautiful chrysanthemums presented by Doreen Comley, which had been grown by her husband.

Raffle prizes were won by Sally Fowler and Sheila Watts. The speaker was George Hook who talked about his business of making products from Mother of Pearl. He was very eloquent.

There was a brisk trade at the end as members made their purchases. He was thanked by Enid Fennell.

Potential new members, or visitors are invited to join the group at the community centre, Kingswinford at 7.30 on January 13. Mr and Mrs Betts will talk about Witley Court and Gardens.

Christmas in Walsall

The lights, water and sound show is set to brighten up the canal basin next to the New Art Gallery

Water feature to transform town

CHRISTMAS will be celebrated in style in Walsall town centre this year with events for all the family and at the heart of it all a brand new feature for 2013.

Magical Waters is a spectacular water, light and sound show which will illuminate Walsall canal basin, next to the New Art Gallery, on December 14 and 15.

Entry to the water spectacular is free with the show running every 10 minutes on both days between 4 and

7pm. Building company Jessup is sponsoring and organising the two day event with support from Walsall Council.

The big switch on takes place at 4pm on Saturday, December 14. It will be carried out by the winner of a competition organised in conjunction with the New Art Gallery Walsall.

Children were challenged to make and decorate an origami boat with the winner due to be announced soon.

Throughout the day on Saturday and Sunday there will also be a whole host of other entertainment. Some of the events are free although there will be charges for some attractions.

For ice skating fans there will be an ice rink in the town centre while Father Christmas will be taking up residence in his grotto.

Before or after the children have visited Father Christmas they can also enjoy the other attractions and workshops which have been lined up. They include various street acts throughout the weekend, children's rides, face painting and balloon modelling.

In addition people looking for some inspiration to decorate their home can take part in a workshop where they can make calendars and tree baubles.

Sometimes its good to be in THE DOGHOUSE

Where can you find a piano accordion, a wooden rocking horse, a carriage, a Victorian shaving mug and an old fashioned telephone kiosk all under one roof? At The Doghouse of course where else!

This treasure trove is situated in Bloxwich Road at Leamore, and with 5,000 sq ft of collectables, memorabilia, artifacts, collectables and antiques, this isn't just any Antique Shop.

John Rutter and his family are the proprietors and have been in the trade for 30 years. They have a well established reputation in Walsall for they have long been associated with the antique trade but moved premises to the Bloxwich Road shop, buying and selling reproduction items as well as antiques and collectables of every description.

You should allow yourself time to explore every nook and cranny of The Doghouse. Indulge yourself in a stroll among the lines of furniture, the tables, the chests, the bedsteads, pictures, bookcases, the pretty little pieces that inspire the true home lover, the interior designer or the seeker of gifts and surprises, even the roof space is hung with a medley of chairs. Venture outside and glimpse the lines of old lamp posts, sentry like in their uniformity; post boxes, telephone kiosks, fireplaces and quarry tiles and stained glass windows.

Stock does move quickly and its this constant change that keeps a regular clientele coming back time and again.

Such is the Rutters own interest in antiques and restoration that they are willing to help the amateur furniture restorer by offering advice as to how best to 'do up' a cherished piece. All manner of DIY materials are available at The Doghouse so that you can fully restore furniture to its former glory.

Other stock includes china, large selection of furniture including Victorian, Edwardian and Antique Pine also Reproduction, and Architectural items.

In recent years the range of fireplaces and accessories have grown. You are also offered the option of made to measure Living Flame gas fires.

This isn't just another antique showroom, it's an experience, a wide eyed indulgence and entertaining as well.

From the moment you enter the front door, warm your hands in front of the open fire and chat to the trio of budgies, you will be a Doghouse junky, destined to come back for more.

Professional advice over legal matters

THE past couple of years have seen more and more organisations offering legal advice regarding making a will and the administration of estates.

Not all of these outlets are ideally suited to do so with some retail stores even offering DIY kits for writing your own will.

The result of not seeking professional legal advice may lead to the occurrence of inaccuracies and financial problems in the long run. It is also important to remember that problems may not come to the fore until many years later. Therefore it is essential to ensure that any legal advice given on such matters is provided by a professional, experienced and trusted source.

The wills, tax and probate team at Enoch Evans LLP in Walsall has been providing advice to the Walsall community for almost 130 years. The team are committed to providing independent, comprehensive legal advice based on people's needs, including older and vulnerable adults. Members of the team also have official 'Solicitors for the Elderly' status, and STEP (Society of Trusts and Estate Practitioners) qualifications.

The team has extensive experience in offering advice on dealing with the preparation of wills, administering of estates, personal inheritance, inheritance tax planning and lasting powers of attorney. Why not make a New Year resolution to make a will? A member of the Enoch Evans LLP team can be contacted on 01922 720333, or visit the firm's website at www.enoch-evans.co.uk for more information. The original Stirlings Jewellers store in the Victorian Arcade, Walsall

Stirlings Jewellers of Walsall, launched their new flagship store in February this year.

The independent retailer began trading in Walsall when John Stirling opened his first shop in 1893 in Park Street before making the short move to Victorian Arcade where the shop still stands today.

The business has now grown and been taken over by Gordon Allen, his two sons Bradley and Brent with financial advice provided by Chantal Matthews.

The team has moved into the former Buxton and Bonnett gentleman's outfitters which is now lighting up Digbeth and Walsall town centre.

Stirlings now offer a variety of popular brands namely, Police, Lipsy, Superdry, Bering watches, Chamilia Charms – the only registered supplier of Disney charms – and for distinctive tastes the Swiss Roamer wrist pieces.

Latest

A silver range is supplied by Bella which includes children's jewellery and the latest addition includes Swarovski pendants and earrings.

Stirlings' shop window in the Victorian Arcade displays the many different types of jewellery available.

The modern showroom is ideal for taking a closer look at jewellery and if an item is unavailable in store, Stirlings are able to source all kinds of products through their vast contacts.

They can also produce unique one off items to customer's own design specification for special occasions such as weddings or anniversaries.

Other services available to customers include repairs and alterations to jewellery, watch repairs and battery replacement.

REVIEW

Bellowhead
Symphony Hall,
Birmingham

BELLOWHEAD are not so much a folk band as an 11-player orchestra. They know how to put on a show, infect people with enthusiasm and they are dripping with talent.

Sam Sweeney as a lone piper opened proceedings under a single spotlight, followed by John Boden's distinctive voice coming through the darkness before the full band was revealed to applause from a sold-out crowd.

Jordan was one of the opening songs which set the pace for the rest of the night with the band never letting up, much to the delight of the fans.

They followed this up with 10,000 Miles Away, a track from their most recent album Broadside, which gave free rein to the animated brass section comprising Andy Mellon on trumpet, Brendan Kelly on sax, Ed Neuhauser on the mighty tuba and Justin Thurgur on trombone. These were backed up by Pete Flood on the drums and firing pan, John Spiers on melodeon and Benji Kirkpatrick on banjo.

As the night went on there was a bewildering amount of instrument changes that was as much a spectacle as the performance and songs themselves.

The audience became the 12th man for another favourite from Broadside, Roll the Woodpile Down. Towards the end they kept the audience hopping with one of their most popular hits New York Girls.

McBusted team up is a smash hit

FOLLOWING the astonishing success of their reunion at the Royal Albert Hall for McFly's tenth anniversary concert, Tom Fletcher, Danny Jones, Dougie Poynter and Harry Judd have announced they will join forces with James Bourne and Matt Willis, of their former pop rivals Busted, as supergroup McBusted for a UK arena tour.

The response of fans to the Busted/McFly reunion has been phenomenal, despite the absence of Busted singer Charlie Simpson who left the band in 2005 and is not taking part in the reunion.

McBusted have added several dates to meet the clamour for tickets after #mcBusted became the top worldwide trend on Twitter. Together Busted and McFly sold 15 million records worldwide and chalked up 14 number ones, 20 top 3 singles and 27 top ten singles.

Fans can expect a nostalgic set full of favourite Busted and McFly hits, plus a few surprises, when they play gigs at Birmingham LG Arena on May 2, 3 and 17. Tickets are £39.50 for the LG (plus fees) and are available from www.livenation.co.uk or www.ticketmaster.co.uk

If it ain't McBusted why fix it? The noughties' top boy guitar bands join forces

THERE is no getting away from funnyman Andrew Lawrence at the moment. The comic, a double Edinburgh Comedy Award nominee, brings his new show to Wolverhampton early next month.

For anyone feeling their life is so awful that they wish they could disappear and never be found, this show should be right up their street.

The comedian performs his 'There Is No Escape' show at the Slade Rooms, in Broad Street, on December 8.

Winner

A winner of the BBC New Act of the Year in 2004, Lawrence has since made a name for himself on the stand-up circuit as well as landing a role in the BBC TV sitcom Ideal.

A Sony Radio Award nominee, Lawrence has twice been shortlisted for the Best Headline Act at the Chortle Award, has appeared on Live At The Apollo and has an acclaimed radio 4 series that bear his name.

Tickets for the Wolverhampton show, which start at 8pm, are priced at £15 or £13 and available on 0870 320 7000 or online at www.wolvescivic.co.uk

Ned reunion gig

Black Country band Ned's Atomic Dustbin are marking their 25th anniversary with gigs including Birmingham O2 Academy on Saturday night. The band, fronted by Jonn Penney, will play along with Cud, Republica and DJ Steve Lamacq.

REVIEW

One Night of Queen,
Grand Theatre,
Wolverhampton

THEY brought their own kind of magic to Wolverhampton and the packed Grand Theatre lapped it up.

From the moment the lights started to flash and the beat struck up, people were singing along to all their favourites as One Night of Queen proved the group's music is as popular as ever.

This tribute band ran through the well-known and not so well-known songs with frequent requests for people to clap and join in all happily met.

Strut

Although Gary Mullen's voice was nowhere near as powerful as the legendary Freddie Mercury, he certainly had all the moves with the struts and sexual innuendos.

The band was excellent, with superb solos from the drummer and lead guitarist but sometimes they did tend to drown out the singing, which was a shame on the more poignant songs.

However, everyone seemed to be in party mood and every time Gary stripped off his jacket or T-shirt the crowd did erupt into screams and furious applause – and he was loving every minute of it.

Coming back on stage at the end for the obvious encore – this group proved that they are still the champions.

David Dimbleby

Britain and the Sea
BBC1, 9pm

David Dimbleby continues his maritime jaunt around the coastline of Britain, as he steers his yacht towards the south-east coast. It is here throughout the ages that enemy forces have made their first points of attack, and has therefore been instrumental in the nation's defences. Along the way he takes a tour of HMS Victory, Nelson's flagship vessel from the Battle of Trafalgar. A far more unlikely piece of history from the Wars comes in the form of a chamber pot, which David learns was a key piece of propaganda in the fight against Napoleon.

The Tardis welcomes back a former Tennant

It's here at last, the moment all Doctor Who fans have been waiting for... At 5.15pm on November 23, 1963, a TV legend was born, but in rather inauspicious circumstances.

The broadcast took place a day after the assassination of US President John F. Kennedy, and as a result, nobody was really paying that much attention to the arrival on British screens of a white-haired old gent who claimed he could travel through space and time in a police box that was bigger on the inside than it was on the outside.

But, just a few weeks later, it was regarded as a phenomenon thanks to the debut appearance of the Daleks – and it's been much-loved by millions ever since.

Now the sci-fi classic is celebrating its 50th anniversary, and current showrunner Steven Moffat is as excited as anybody about this special episode, which will also be broadcast and shown in cinemas in 3D.

"Since I was a little boy, the idea of writing a Doctor Who story at all was remarkable enough to me," he reveals. "But writing the 50th special was exciting and terrifying – everything that showbiz should be."

"I didn't want this to just be a celebration of 50 years of the past. I wanted it to be a celebration of the mythology and legend of the Doctor and all that entailed."

"This should be the first step on the next journey, guaranteeing the 100th anniversary. The story focuses on the most important thing that ever happened to the Doctor. We very rarely do that in Doctor Who as it's usually about the people the Doctor meets or the companions that travel with him. This time it's different."

How different we're just not sure – Moffat is frankly brilliant at keeping the plots of Who stories top secret, even if it means telling a few little white lies along the way.

What we do know is that David Tennant is returning to the Tardis alongside Matt Smith, and they'll be joined by John Hurt as an incarnation of the Time Lord that the Doctor himself would rather forget.

Billie Piper is also back as Rose Tyler, and those who love Tom Baker's era will be thrilled about an appearance by the Zygons, shape-shifting aliens who haven't been seen since 1976.

"With John Hurt we have serious acting royalty and that was the intent of John's character," explains Moffat. "John is one of the most distinguished actors this country has produced and has now become part of Doctor Who mythology."

"The Zygons, without question, are a design classic. They are superb – brilliant from the voice, to the appearance. Essentially, we've resurrected exactly the same Zygon as Tom Baker fought back. They are beautiful, and it'll show that the special looks forward to the future of Doctor Who and also celebrates the legend."

We're guessing a few more people will be tuning in to this episode than did so in 1963 – and anybody who misses it will feel as alien as a Cyberman when it comes to Monday morning's school and work discussions!

Doctor Who: The Day of the Doctor, Saturday, BBC1, 7.50pm

Best of the Rest

MONDAY

Ripper Street

BBC1, 9pm

Given the calibre of cast, crew, and the international appeal, there's perhaps little wonder this series has found favour worldwide. The latest offering involves the murder of Telegraph Boy Otto Roberts. When he is found strangled, Detective Inspector Edmund Reid and his fellow crime busters attempt to expose a vice racket run from the offices of the GPO. The case takes Reid to the heart of Barings Bank, one of the city's most revered financial organisations. Before long the team uncovers blackmail, impending economic disaster and crooked financial dealings. With a great cast including Matthew Macfadyen, Jerome Flynn and Adam Rothenberg, as well as some superb attention to detail, this is a welcome change from the usual cops and robbers dramas.

The Choir: Sing While You Work

BBC2, 9pm

You've got to hand it to choirmaster Gareth Malone – his determination cannot be rivalled. However, he's going to need more than determination (and his signature bow tie) tonight, as he tackles what could be his biggest challenge yet. He's hoping to turn staff at Cheshire Fire and Rescue into an all-singing, all-beaming group of folk ready to take on their other choirs. But he's got his work cut out. At audition stage, the alarm is raised and bells and blue lights bring an abrupt halt to proceedings, as the station gets to work. Once rehearsals get under way, Gareth's next task is to give the back-room staff the confidence to stand tall and sing proud.

TUESDAY

Last Tango in Halifax

BBC1, 9pm

A wedding day should be the happiest time of your life, preferably surrounded by loved ones, not by a butcher who'd rather be somewhere else and an indifferent, on-duty policeman. And when Alan (Derek Jacobi) considers paying the witnesses £20 he manages to dampen some of the romance. Little wonder his bride Celia (Anne Reid) is a little miffed. The service is eventually interrupted by Gillian (a scene-stealing Nicola Walker), who has a go at her dad for being so selfish. Meanwhile, as Caroline (Sarah Lancashire) finds a way to buy John out of the house, her relationship is threatened by Kate's desire for a baby. Sally Wainwright's brilliant, bittersweet comedy also stars Tony Gardner and Nina Sosanya.

The Sound of Musicals

Channel 4, 9pm

When Andrew Lloyd Webber needed to solve a problem like finding an actress to play Maria in his revival of The Sound of Music, he turned to reality TV for help. But when it comes to the tricky business of casting a West End musical, not every producer is able to hand the decision over to the public. Take Kenny Wax for example – he struck lucky when putting on his staging of Top Hat, and recruited actor Tom

The Sound of Musicals, Tuesday, Channel 4, 9pm

Chambers, a former Strictly Come Dancing champion and Casualty star who could tap, sing and already had an army of fans. But as Chambers approaches the end of his contract, Wax needs to find another 'triple threat' to take over the role, a search that ultimately takes him to Broadway.

WEDNESDAY

Treblinka: Inside Hitler's Secret Death Camp

Channel 5, 9pm

It was a place of almost unimaginable horror, yet for many years, it seemed as if the Treblinka concentration camp had left no trace of its ever having existed. Located in north east Poland, the concentration camp was where the Nazis murdered more than 800,000 people between 1942 and 1943. Many more were forced to serve as slave labour. The camp was then dismantled in 1943, and anything the Germans authorities didn't destroy, time and the seasons concealed. Some Holocaust deniers have even questioned whether it ever existed at all. But earlier this year, British archaeologist Caroline Sturdy Colls embarked on a mission to reveal exactly what the Nazis were trying to hide at Treblinka. This documentary follows Caroline and her team as they work on the first comprehensive forensic investigation of the site.

THURSDAY

Legacy

BBC2, 8.30pm

For anyone too young to remember the 1970s, it wasn't just a time of flares, disco and Space Hoppers. In 1974, Britain was also in the middle of a Cold War, and contending with the three-day week, industrial strife and petrol rationing – and it's against this background that this thriller plays out. Charlie Cox heads the cast as Charles Thoroughgood, a trainee spy in MI6, who is under pressure to recruit his old university friend and Russian diplomat Viktor Koslov (Andrew Scott). However, it's not going to be as easy as going for a couple of drinks and reminiscing about the good old days. Viktor has his own agenda, as well as a bit of explosive inside information about the spy's family.

FRIDAY

Kangaroo Dundee

BBC2, 8.30pm

All eyes are focused Down Under at the moment thanks to the cricket and Celebrity shenanigans, but there's more to Aussie blokes than just the twack of leather on willow, as this new documentary series proves. Following on from a two-part show earlier in the year as part of the Natural World strand, Kangaroo Dundee catches up with Chris 'Brolga' Barnes, the Outback hero who's been devoting his life to rescuing and raising orphaned kangaroos in Australia's Northern Territory. As the cameras start rolling again, Brolga has just taken in two new joys by the name of Rex and Ruby, and is raising them using a pillowcase as a pouch.

South Africa

South Africa is a country five times the size of Britain and it has so much to offer the visitor, including breath-taking wildlife, stunning scenery, a huge sense of history, bustling cities plus first class food and wine.

The holiday includes 13 nights bed and breakfast accommodation in specially selected three and four-star hotels, three evening meals and a variety of stunning excursions.

For most visitors the highlight will be a full day's game drive that brings the chance to see the sweeping savannah and muddy waterholes lined with animals, and to marvel at the incredible 150 mammal and 500 bird species that live in the Kruger National Park, including the 'big five': elephant, lion, rhino, leopard and buffalo. Rooms are reserved at the three-star superior Hippo Hollow Country Estate, located in the midst of lush forest on the banks of the Sabie River. It's open-air terrace overlooks the grounds and river, so watch out for the hippos!

Those interested in history will be intrigued by the visit to Zululand, passing through Swaziland en route, to reach the haunting battlefields of Isandlwana and Rorke's Drift. In 1879 these two battles, just a day apart, became a defining moment for the British Empire and the specialist Zulu guide will make those desperate encounters come alive.

A well-organised schedule of tours combined with free time in Cape Town, Johannesburg, in Knysna on the coast and at the Kruger National Park means everyone will experience the very heart of South Africa on this 16-day adventure.

NEARLY 25 years on, Miss Saigon has shown its enduring popularity by setting a new box office record ahead of its return to London next year.

The musical by Alain Boublil and Claude-Michel Schönberg sees Puccini's Madama Butterfly relocated to Saigon in 1975 and tells the story of a young Vietnamese bar worker called Kim who falls in love with a GI called Chris.

Miss Saigon opens at the Prince Edward Theatre in May 2014, the production's 25th anniversary year - tickets are available now.

Adapted from one of the greatest novels of the twentieth century, Tim Rice's gripping tale of illicit love and army life is an exciting and romantic show that is sure to become one of the great new musicals.

Set in Pearl Harbor in 1941 where even on an army base, love and desire are never very far away, troubled Private Prewitt falls for a kind hearted escort club girl whilst his platoon sergeant, Warden (played by Darius Campbell) embarks on a dangerous affair with his commanding officer's wife Karen. As war approaches, the worlds of these four lovers and the soldiers of G Company are dramatically ripped apart.

From Here to Eternity is at the Shaftesbury Theatre.

Suzuki now extending VAT offer on Alto city motor

The Alto is aimed at younger drivers and the VAT offer takes £1,200 off the entry price of an SZ model

YOUNG car buyers have some early festive cheer, with the announcement that Suzuki has extended its 'VAT-free' offer on the cute Alto city car model until the end of the year.

The deal effectively takes £1,200 off the list price of the entry-level Alto SZ. That makes the five-door runabout just £5,999 to buy, and with a low deposit of £779 it can be driven away for £99 per month.

A final balloon payment of £2,352 after 41 monthly rentals secures the car and completes the purchase.

The Alto is aimed at younger or budget-conscious buyers with fuel economy topping 65mpg, insurance rated in group 4E and CO<sub>2</sub> emissions of just 99g/km, making it road-tax free under the current UK rules.

The offer is only valid until the end of December, though, so to take advantage visit your local Suzuki dealer.

SUZUKI ALTO FROM ONLY £5,999***

This practical city car has low CO<sub>2</sub> emissions of 99g/km*, great combined fuel efficiency of up to 65.7mpg*, no road tax* and low insurance.

And now available VAT free*, it's one of the lowest priced hatchbacks around, so you really won't be able to resist it.

The Seat Ibiza delivers improved cost-efficiency, more hi-tech gadgets and style

For the fourth generation main tweaks have been around the headlights and grille

Ibiza rocks! Supermini fine-tuned to perfection

By Paul Naylor

THE revised version of SEAT's fourth generation Ibiza supermini offers small car buyers a smarter set of more eco-conscious hi-tech talents.

It'll need them if it's to distance itself from its Volkswagen and Skoda design stablemates and continue as a credible alternative in this tightly fought segment.

'Enjoyneering' – it's a rather apt description of what Spanish maker SEAT sets out to create when it brings us a new car. Something beautifully engineered: but with a bit of extra Latin sparkle. Something like this, the Iberian brand's much improved fourth generation Ibiza supermini.

The "Sociedad Espanola de Automoviles de Turismo" or SEAT as we better know it is well used to injecting a little life into its cars.

Only when Volkswagen took control of the brand in 1986 though, did its appeal start to spread to the rest of Europe, with the Ibiza supermini the sales spearhead and this MK4 model, launched in 2008, generally acknowledged as the company's most competitive proposition yet.

A few years on though and with toughening small car competition, it was clear that a bit of a re-think might be needed to keep this car current.

Perhaps a sharper look, a bit of extra running cost efficiency and an added touch of hi-tech would do the trick? All were duly delivered by this improved model, launched in the Spring of 2012. Let's check it out.

Go for a model with more than 100bhp and it'll also come with a clever XDS electronic differential lock which will help you get the power down more quickly out of tight corners, dialing out understeer and firing you from bend to bend.

All TSI petrol models get this treatment, these including my favourite variant, the 105PS 1.2-litre unit which makes 60 in 9.8 seconds on the way to nearly 120mph, yet still returns a highly impressive set of running cost figures.

You can order it with a super-smooth DSG automatic gearbox – but you don't have to.

Annoyingly, that's not the case if you go for the pokier 150 or 180PS supercharged and turbocharged 1.4TSI engine found in the sporty but strangely auto-only FR and Cupra hot hatch models.

Other poky XDS-equipped Ibizans include the 105PS 1.6-litre diesel and my pick as the sportiest car in the range, the desirable 143PS 2.0 TDI FR model which makes 60 in just 8.2s on the way to 130mph.

Performance

That's the fast stuff dealt with, but here I've chosen a more realistic Ibiza variant to drive, the 12v 70PS 1.2-litre petrol model.

Though I've tried for a sportier feel by specifying the three-door SC bodystyle, the performance figures are sober-suited, sixty from rest occupying around 14 seconds on the way to a maximum of only just over 100mph.

Virtually the same performance return you'd get from the frugal 75PS 1.2-litre TDI diesel. Both engines are a better bet than the aging 85PS 16v 1.4-litre petrol unit.

Whichever Ibiza bodystyle you choose – five-door hatch, ST estate or the sportier three-door SC, it won't at first glance appear to have changed very much over the original versions of this MK4 model. The key tweaks have been made around the headlights and grille, this Ibiza wearing the 'eagle eye' lamps that are now part of the SEAT corporate look.

In the back, the three-door Ibiza SC's roofline will make headroom an issue for taller folk, but five-door and ST estate models should seat two adults and/or three children quite comfortably. There's a 284-litre boot here, a total that rises to 292-litres in the five-door and 450-litres in the ST estate.

Expect to pay somewhere in the £10,000 to £17,000 bracket for this Ibiza, pricing that's pretty much par for the course in the supermini segment.

All models get what today's supermini buyers would see as the basics – front electric windows, tinted glass, a four-speaker MP3-compatible CD stereo with AUX-in point and steering wheel controls, remote central locking, a 12v power socket and a height-adjustable driver's seat.

Safety-wise, there are the usual twin front and side airbags, plus anti-lock brakes that flash the brake lights to warn following motorists if you're making an emergency stop.

Running cost-wise, the prime pick is undoubtedly the 1.2-litre diesel TDI engine with its clean Diesel Particulate Filter, offered both in standard form and, for a premium of around £5,000, in green-conscious Ecomotive guise.

Go the Ecomotive route and, thanks to a Brake Energy Recovery feature and a Start/Stop system that cuts the engine when you don't need it, stuck in traffic or waiting at the lights, you're talking emissions of just 92g/km which tax-wise will mean your car won't be much more expensive to run than a push bike.

At the same time, this variant barely sips fuel to achieve 80.7mpg on the combined cycle, considerably more frugal than much pricier competing eco-conscious supermini models like Ford's Fiesta ECometic and Vauxhall's Corsa ecoFLEX 95PS Start/Stop.

Honours even after Owen hits an opener

Walsall Phoenix FC 1
AFC Somers 1

IN a fascinating and keenly contested encounter, honours were shared as both midfields cancelled out each other for most of the match.

Phoenix's Joey Owen, a double scorer in his previous home outing, scored within four minutes after cutting in at pace from the right hand-side and striking the ball low from outside the 18 yard-box to the left hand post to put the home side in front.

Somers reacted positively to the early set back surging forward but Phoenix maintained their composure until the first period of the second-half when an innocuous shot was seen by the referee to have hit a Walsall arm.

Daniel Cox converted the resulting penalty.

The match was heading towards stalemate and a headed Phoenix corner was desperately scrambled off the line.

Further drama unfolded when their front man Chris Webber had to leave the field with a hamstring pull while Dave Cotterill was unfortunately to receive a straight red for dissent.

Captain Paul Baxter then made a fine parrying save to ensure the home side shared the points.

WALSALL'S first win of the season showed they had the tenacity to recover from conceding an early score. This was a superb performance from Walsall's U-16s, who played without substitutes.

Lichfield U-14s 22
Walsall U-14s 31

The visitors were slow to start and Lichfield took advantage of this to forge into an early lead through an unconverted try. Walsall soon hit back with a solo, effort from Nico Watkins.

The scoreline was not a true reflection on the game, as Walsall produced a very committed performance.

Karate teenager Chloe's star is rising

Chloe Machin, aged 15, who won a karate bronze medal at her first European Championships

WILLENHALL teenager Chloe Machin is targeting World Championship karate glory after claiming a bronze medal at her first European Championships.

The 15-year-old finished third in the 14-15-year-olds' category at the European Wadokai Karate Championships in Portugal just two years after taking up the sport.

She beat contenders from 13 countries to a place on the podium to confirm her status as one of Britain's rising stars and raise hopes of success at the World Championships in Japan next year.

The Pool Hayes Arts and Community School pupil only took up karate two years ago but has risen swiftly through the ranks, winning regional competitions and catching the eye of England selectors.

Martial Arts

She now travels regularly to Leicester for training sessions with the England squad.

Proud mother Jackie said: "Chloe would train all the time if she could but in spite of her success at the European Championships she was disappointed because she wanted to get to the final.

"Now it's over and, having talked to the England selectors, she realises just what an achievement it was to have returned with a bronze medal from the European Championships."

As well as competing in the World Championships, Chloe has also set her sights on completing her black belt in Japan.

Pool Hayes headteacher Jim Clarke, said: "It is a real honour to have a pupil in school who has represented her country at a European Championship.

"She is a brilliant role model for the other pupils and everyone at school wishes her well in her bid to get to the World Championships."

Anyone interested in sponsoring Chloe can contact her through her school on 01902 368147 or via email at jim.clarke@poolhayesarts.com.

Wood stumped in cup as Tulips bloom to win

FA Vase Round 2
Walsall Wood 0 Spalding United 3

WOOD went out of this season's competition at their first hurdle, losing to third favourites Spalding United.

It took the Tulips just 15 minutes to go ahead and with them only conceding two goals in 14 league games this season Wood had a mountain to climb.

After only a minute Mark Jones collected the ball wide right, cut inside and his low drive brought a full length save from Raajan Gill.

On three minutes he collected the ball from a left wing throw, went through two tackles and curled a drive just wide of the far post.

It was almost constant Tulips pressure and after 15 minutes a left wing free kick was hit to the far post, Nathan Stainsfield's header deflected over the bar.

From the corner Gill was challenged in the air by Jones and could not hold the ball, which was hit back across goal for Danny Hussey to tap in at the far post from a yard out.

On 21 minutes Andy Tidswell powered in from wide right and played the ball across the face of the box, Dan Steadman hit a first time effort wide. A minute later Jones crossed from wide right for Stainsfield to plant a header wide.

Wood's first effort came on 23 minutes. Steven Hayles got clear wide left and although his cross was slightly behind Joey Butlin, he still managed to get in a header that keeper Michael Duggan saved easily.

Back came the Tulips with Adam Jackson on 25 minutes hitting a lovely diagonal ball to find Jones on the right of the box, Shawn Boothe saving Wood with a superbly timed tackle.

On 33 minutes a misplaced pass in the centre circle went straight to Steadman, he raced through the middle before playing a lovely weighted ball into the path of Tidswell who ran on and fired into the far corner to make it 0-2.

A minute later a neat move down the Wood left saw Lewis Taylor Boyce find Harry Harris on the edge of the box, only for him to be brought down. Butlin fired the free kick into the top left hand corner but Duggan flew across goal to push the ball round the post.

On 38 minutes Taylor Boyce worked his way inside from wide right and his measured reverse ball set up Ahmet Bilgimer to fire just over the far angle.

Right on half time a right wing free kick to the near post was headed across goal by Anthony Juxon and Lee Stretton acrobatically put a first time effort inches over.

The second half saw the visitors sitting on their two-goal lead, closing Wood down and occasionally hitting them on the break.

Substitute Dave Carns, Taylor Boyce, Harris and Butlin had shots either charged down or easily saved and then on 85 minutes man of the match Jones collected the ball from a left wing throw, slalomed through three tackles before squeezing the ball home at the near post to give him the goal his all round performance deserved.

Pitmen power through into the FA Trophy

Hednesford forward Neil Harvey loses his marker in the penalty area during the qualifying match

Hednesford Town 3
Workington AFC 0

HEDNESFORD comfortably negotiated their passage into the first round proper of the FA Trophy as Rob Smith's men shook off their FA Cup disappointment, writes Chris Brewerton.

Seven days previously, the Pitmen underlined their reputation as proud ambassadors for non-league football with a brave, but unsuccessful battle in the premier tournament with League One Crawley Town.

But in the FA Trophy third qualifying round, the Keys Park outfit barely had to move out of second gear against a Workington side, who, had they finished with as much skill as their hosts, could have made the game a lot less comfortable.

Elliott Durrell tested Joel Dixon twice in the opening five minutes with a teasing cross and then a shot hit straight at the goalkeeper.

After the away side wasted a good chance the Pitmen heeded the warning but, with a somewhat flat atmosphere inside Keys Park, only raised themselves on 27 minutes when Wayne Riley smartly controlled a long ball and finished confidently in-off the post to open the scoring.

It seemed to spring Hednesford into life and within three minutes they doubled their advantage when Durrell found space on the right and sent in a superb cross to which Francino Francis got the slightest touch to divert the ball into the far corner.

Workington missed another chance and man of the match Kris Taylor, a metronome-like presence in the centre of midfield, forced Dixon into a sprawling save from long distance after the break.

The Pitmen wrapped up the victory when the referee awarded an indirect free-kick. As Workington protested, Durrell ignored the complaints and slammed the ball into the far corner.

Mansell is edged out against an old rival

TWO Great Wryley boxers were back in action in Birmingham in what's become familiar territory for them.

Sixteen-year-old Jamie Mansell met Necholes Green ABC boxer Ryan Whelan for the third time at welterweight.

These pair could fight everyday of the week and it would always be a close bout.

The third meeting between them was no exception as Whelan gained his first win over Mansell via a waffer thin majority decision.

Under orders to box from distance, the tall, rangy Mansell got dragged into a dog fight from the first bell as Whelan attacked from the off and both lads swapped close range hooks.

The second round, and it looked for a time as if Mansell was going to swamp Whelan with his superior fitness, pushing the Birmingham lad back around the ring and making it all to play for in the last.

The two went head-to-head in the last but Whelan got the majority.

Another return from the Great Wryley show saw Wryley's Reece Roberts and Necholes Green boxer Chris McLoughlin square off for the second time in a week with Roberts taking a unanimous points decision.

Duggan's debut does it for Pics

Stockbridge Park Steels 1
Rushall Olympic 2

A DEBUTANT goal from central defender, Jack Duggan, gave Rushall Olympic a hard-earned victory.

But the Pics ended the game with 10 men, when substitute Mitchell Tolley was sent off, just three minutes after coming on, and moments later manager Neil Kitching also received his marching orders.

The visitors made a dream start when they were ahead in the first minute.

Dele Adebola teed the ball up for Josh Craddock to drive home from 25 yards.

The Pics bossed the opening 15 minutes and the home side had to wait until the 18th minute to force their first corner. They drew level through Chris Ovington.

Eleven minutes into the second half the Pics should have gone back in front when Kristian Ramsey-Dickson combined well with Stan Mugisha but shot wide.

Tom Eckersley replaced Craddock on the hour and they went ahead on 74 minutes through Duggan's fantastic header from a corner.

Squad is hit by poor form

Bloxwich 0 Ludlow 4

BLOXWICH Mens First XI's poor run of form continued into the middle of November as they fell to a heavy defeat against a youthful and strong Ludlow team.

They admittedly did not turn up for the game and put in a poor display that left the whole team disheartened by the full-time whistle.

Bloxwich need to forget about this poor run of defeats and get back to playing hockey like they know they can.

They are desperate for a win and will be doing everything to make sure that elusive win comes against Leamington this Saturday.

Plenty of effort but fluke goal is a killer

Staffs Senior Cup.
Walsall Wood 0 Port Vale 3

WOOD went out of this year's competition losing 3-0 to a slick and composed Port Vale. The home side had been under almost continuous first half pressure but went in at half time all square.

They were finally ripped apart on 56 minutes, when Gary O'Neill made space on the right and his measured diagonal ball into the right of the box was collected at pace by Jordan Hugill, who hit a low drive past the advancing Woods keeper Mark Wiggins.

Wood almost equalised two minutes later, Harry Harris played the ball in low from a free kick on the right of the box and Ahmet Bilgimer's low drive brought a full-length save from Sam Johnson.

The visitors were now sitting deep and trying to hit Wood on the break and it nearly paid dividends in the 60th and 63rd minutes, first it was Rob Taylor flashing a first time effort inches wide and then Hugill raced into the box only to be robbed by a superb tackle from Andre Gonzales.

On 65 minutes Joey Butlin was fouled on the right of the visitors box, Harris delivered the ball to the far post for Anthony Juxon to power a header across goal and just wide of the far post.

Three minutes later from another counter attack, Taylor raced away wide left, his cross met perfectly by the head of Gavin Tomlin but Wiggins made a great full length save.

Back came Wood, Bilgimer powering into the left of box, he was half stopped, won the ball back but keeper Johnson saved bravely at his feet, getting injured in the process. The game changed on 75 minutes, Cheye Alexander somehow got out of the right hand corner and swung in a hopeful cross.

The ball sailed over everyone, hit the foot of the far post and rolled into the net, to a stunned silence as no-one could believe how lucky Vale had been.

Wood tried to rally with Harris seeing his 30 yard thunderbolt somehow kept out by Johnson, but the fluke goal had knocked the stuffing out of Wood.

Four minutes later keeper Johnson saved a Harris low drive, Vale played the ball out from the back, Taylor cut in from wide left and made it 3-0 with a crisp low drive.

Then on 87 minutes Tomlin played Hugill into the right of the box and he was brought down from behind, he took the spot kick himself but Wiggins made a superb full-length save.

Wood lived dangerously for almost an hour but the goal changed everything. Then the second goal was an absolute killer, but to their credit they kept going only to concede another goal as they tried for at least a consolation.

No complaints though, Vale were well worth the victory as they progressed to the next round and a tie against Stafford Rangers.

Pics' cup run goes on thanks to boss

New Mills 2 Rushall Olympic 4

A MUCH-CHANGED Rushall Olympic side, which included three youngsters from the club's Under-18s squad, won through to the second round of the Doodson Cup.

The win sets up a Second Round away tie at Barwell which is scheduled for Tuesday December 3.

The Pics line up included the Management trio of Neil Kitching, Nick Amos and Gary Fitzpatrick and it was the visitors who were the quickest out of the blocks when Stan Mugisha rounded off a 13th minute move.

Twelve minutes later the home side were on level terms when the unmarked Melford Knight headed past Chris Gemmell.

Then 10 minutes before the break New Mills went in front when a misplaced header left Daniel Hewitt free to slot the ball in.

It took the Pics just two minutes of the second half to draw level and it was the manager, who beat the offside trap and scored.

Five minutes later he headed home a ball from Wayne Daniel.

Shortly afterwards he was substituted and the visitors introduced all three of the young subs. Among them was Christian Brisband who had a hand in the fourth goal passing to Judd Ellis.

Sawyers and Lal on the up

DELIGHTED Dean Smith tipped Milan Lalkovic and Romaine Sawyers to keep improving after they fired Walsall to a win over Peterborough on national TV.

The forward duo both hit the target as the Saddlers sounded warning of their own League One promotion credentials with a dominant display against the third-placed visitors in front of the Sky Sports cameras at the Banks's.

Smith believes 20-year-old Lalkovic's resurgence is down to renewed confidence and believes both he and 22-year-old Sawyers will only get better.

"I think Milan has a bit more confidence from the first part of the season," said Smith. "As I've said numerous times before, it's his first taste of League One football, the same with Romaine."

"The two of them, among others, are learning the game very quickly."

Wolves second best but still go top of league

Notts County 0 Wolves 1

NOT for the first time this season, Kenny Jackett's side were second best, for almost an hour at Meadow Lane.

But they did enough and got the win, and in doing so, climbed to the top of League One for the first time this year.

With 30 games to go, there are going to be plenty of twists and turns ahead.

But the way things are going, they have a good chance of staying there.

Now you can argue that with by far the biggest budget at this level which has enabled them to keep their top players and given Jackett the chance to rebuild the squad with five signings, that's where they should be. On Saturday, Wolves' back line earned their ninth clean sheet of the season and it was achieved without keeper Carl Ikeme having to make a save.

That was down to some woeful finishing but also some stout and resilient defending from a back four shorn of captain Sam Rick- etts for the first time in the league this season and Matt Doherty, both on international duty.

But cometh the hour, cometh the man and no one stood up to the challenge more than Richard Stearman. The stopper has had his share of detractors in his five-and-a-half years at Molineux and would probably have been heading out of the door if Ipswich could have afforded the £1m asking price in the summer. But he has stayed and his growing presence reached its zenith on Saturday with a man-of-the-match performance.

Whenever County got into Wolves' box and threatened, it was generally Stearman who was there with a stray boot or throwing his head in to repel the danger.

In an unconvincing first-half display Jake Cassidy came closest, his shot in the 27th minute swerving at the last moment to force

Polish keeper Bartosz Bialkowski into a diving save. James Henry had him palming away a shot while Bakary Sako should have done better with a right-footed effort.

The half-time arrival of Leigh Griffiths for David Davis, the 10-goal top scorer strangely left on the bench for the first 45 minutes, lifted Wolves.

They were gradually building a head of steam and, after Cassidy rolled his shot straight at Bialkowski, the breakthrough came via the unlikely figure of Ethan Ebanks-Landell. The lanky 20-year-old, who was making his first league start for Wolves, drove home a low left-foot shot.

Arresting match is all square

Walsall XV 30

WALSALL'S team was captained by Ian Bradshaw.

Ian and, centre, Harvey Wootton, were first team regulars that played the full game to prove their match fitness after recent injuries.

The Police team led 13-20 at the interval.

Former Walsall regular Richard Marsh, helped to create two of their tries with some incisive runs.

While for the home team, young flanker Connor McGuirk crossed early on and then fly half Mitch Carless kicked a penalty.

The team's final score of the half came from Wootton.

The hosts drew level after 10 minutes of the second half after Connor Pitt made a neat break before giving a well-timed pass to Tony Lay who found McGuirk in support. He finished off with Carless adding the conversion. He then put over a penalty to give his team the advantage.

But the Police scored again to establish a 25-23 lead.

Walsall then struck back through Jordan Lay.

The conversion made it 30-25, but with the last play of the game, the Police scored near the corner flag.

Romaine played to TV audience

GOAL hero Romaine Sawyers has admitted the presence of the TV cameras helped inspire Walsall's win over Peterborough.

Monday's emphatic 2-0 win at the Banks's was broadcast live on Sky Sports and Sawyers, who scored his fifth goal of the season, said players didn't want to miss the chance to strut their stuff for a national audience.

The Chronicle, a Midland News Association Ltd publication, printed by the company at Ketterley, Telford, Thursday, November 21, 2013.

SADDLERS PUT ON MEMORABLE SHOW

Walsall 2 Peterborough 0

DEAN SMITH'S side couldn't have picked a better moment to showcase the latest in a string of scintillating displays.

In front of the Sky Sports cameras, they simply dismantled third-placed Posh and served further notice of their own promotion credentials.

The goals – excellent ones too – came courtesy of the rejuvenated Milan Lalkovic and classy Romaine Sawyers but there could and should have been more.

Craig Westcarr, Andy Butler and Sawyers had all gone close before substitute Ashley Hemmings saw his late penalty saved by Bobby Olejnik.

Peterborough had arrived looking to close the gap on leaders Wolves and Orient but left with boss Darren Ferguson hailing the hosts and admitting his own team needs some serious work.

Frustration

Shaun Brisley's sending-off for two yellow cards with the game already lost was mainly down to the frustration of the visiting players at the hosts' dominance.

His second card, most notably, came from a weary hack at the irrepressible Lalkovic – who continued where he left off from his excellent display against Shrewsbury with another fine performance – this time capped off with his first goal since the season opened.

Big question marks hung over the Chelsea loanee just a fortnight ago but he now looks a man transformed and another potential match-winner alongside Sawyers, who simply seems to relish playing at the Banks's.

The former Albion youngster has scored in four of his five starts at home this season and added another to his growing list of goal of the season contenders.

More than that, he brings an extra touch of class to the attack and at this rate the Saddlers will be scrambling to extend his current deal past the end of the season.

The whole team performance was reminiscent of last month's win at Swindon but made much sweeter by the fact it was at home and on something of a stage with the cameras present.

It's now two wins on the spin for Smith's side at the Banks's, with five goals and a solution seemingly found to the inconsistent home form which has been the main bugbear to this point of the campaign.

But while breezing past Shrewsbury is one thing, stomping all over pre-season promotion favourites like Peterborough is quite another and even the most pessimistic of Saddlers supporter will have woken up the following morning excited about the months ahead.

Romaine Sawyers celebrates after putting the seal on Monday night's impressive 2-0 win over Peterborough
